Background

The AIBC Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct (the “Code of Ethics”) is a compilation of standards of competence and professional and ethical conduct (“Professional Standards”) for the architectural profession and AIBC Registrants in British Columbia. The document is supplemented by advisory, informational, and interpretive commentary to assist readers. Commentary is found in italics.

Registrants and the public should also refer to AIBC Practice Guidelines for supporting information and interpretations related to some of the Professional Standards in the Code of Ethics. The AIBC’s Professional Practice Program, which fields inquiries related to professional competency, conduct, and ethics, is also available to Registrants and the public without charge.

The Professional Standards in this Code of Ethics underpin the public’s general expectation that AIBC Registrants act at all times with honesty, integrity and professional competence. Registrants must honour their obligations to the public, Clients, the profession, their colleagues, and the environment. A breach of a Professional Standard may constitute one or more of Professional Misconduct, Incompetent performance of duties or Conduct Unbecoming a Registrant.

Except where specifically identified as applying to a specific class(es) of Registrant, the Professional Standards established in the Code of Ethics apply to all AIBC Registrants. For example, only Architects are referred to in Standard 1.1 relating to the Architects' declaration or 'oath' for the simple reason that other Registrants do not make this declaration. Where Professional Standards refer to Registrants in the practice of the profession of architecture, it must be remembered that non-Architect Registrants can only provide architectural services under the supervision of an Architect. Where "Architect" is used, it includes those Registrants in the Temporary Licensee (Architect) category. Such Registrants' practice is limited in time, not scope, and all of the Professional Standards apply to them in the same way they do to other Architects.

Professional Governance Act: Ethical Principles

The Professional Governance Act requires all regulatory bodies under that legislation to include certain ethical principles and standards. Where a Professional Standard is derived directly from the authority of the Professional Governance Act, it is specifically identified, and in many cases the commentary to such standards explains its applicability and relevance to the practice of the profession of architecture.

The bulk of the former Bylaws and rulings from the AIBC's Code of Ethics under the Architects Act remain intact in this edition of the Code of Ethics. The transition to the PGA does not create substantively new or different Professional Standards. Notable changes include: clarified standards in relation to the use of the Schedules of Architectural Services and Fee Guidelines (formerly known as the Tariff of Fees for Architectural Services); clearer standard statement and supporting commentary related to Direct Supervision by Architects of non-Architects; and the use of the Architect's Seal (contain elements previously found in Bulletins 60 and 61).

Organization

The Code of Ethics is organized into 10 categories using headings numbered 1.0, 2.0, etc. for reference. Each Professional Standard is given a number within the category (1.1, 1.2, etc.). This replaces the previous formatting of the Code of Ethics in which standards were identified as Bylaws and council rulings.

The AIBC recommends that Registrants and other users of the Code of Ethics refer to standards by their paragraph/subparagraph number (and letter where applicable) for clarity. This document uses both "Professional Standard: #" and the shorthand "PS:#" to refer to Professional Standards for efficiency. The first standard, below, would therefore be referred to as "Professional Standard: 1.1" or "PS:1.1". Standards that include lettered subparagraphs would be referred to as "Professional Standard: 1.2(a)" or "PS:1.2(a)."

Terms capitalized in the Code of Ethics are defined terms under the Bylaws.

1.0 General Obligations

- 1.1 Each Applicant for registration as an Architect must make and subscribe to the following declaration:

“Solemnly do I declare that having read and understood the Professional Governance Act, the Architects Regulation, the Bylaws, and Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct of the Architectural Institute of British Columbia, and having passed the examinations, I am eligible for registration. Further do I announce that I will uphold professional aims, uphold the art, and the science of architecture, and I will thereby improve the environment. I also accept with obligation the need to further my education as an Architect. I promise now that my professional conduct as it concerns the community, my work, and my fellow Architects will be governed by the ethics and the tradition of this honourable and learned profession, in the public interest.”

This declaration, sometimes referred to as the Architects’ “oath” underpins and informs the profession’s fundamental obligations and expectations of Architects. It is both a statement of commitment to professionalism and a reminder of the public interest foundation of the architectural profession.

The declaration is connected to and consistent with multiple Professional Standards in the Code of Ethics, including the overarching expectations related to public safety, health and welfare and protection of the environment in PS: 1.4 below.

- 1.2 Registrants must conduct their affairs in a professional manner, including but not limited to refraining from:

- (a) dishonourable or discourteous conduct towards a person or entity;
- (b) Conduct Unbecoming a Registrant in the profession or personal life of a Registrant;
- (c) harassment, discrimination or other failure to comply with human rights laws in force in Canada, its provinces and territories; and
- (d) behaviour that would reflect unfavourably on the profession.

The Professional Governance Act defines “conduct unbecoming a registrant” to mean conduct that:

- (i) brings the regulatory body or its registrants into disrepute,*
- (ii) undermines the standards, methods or principles that are the foundation of the profession, or*
- (iii) undermines the principle of holding paramount the safety, health and welfare of the public, including the protection of the environment and the promotion of health and safety in the workplace in the manner that reflects the stewardship of a given profession by each regulatory body.*

- 1.3 Registrants must:

- (a) respond promptly and substantively to any AIBC communication requiring a mandatory response;

- (b) promptly notify the AIBC in writing of any change in contact information that the AIBC may from time to time request; and
- (c) cooperate fully with the AIBC in a professional conduct matter at whatever stage, including attending in person upon request, summons, or notification by the Investigation Committee or Discipline Committee.

Responding “promptly” means without unnecessary delay, including meeting any response deadlines provided in correspondence. Responding “substantively” means a meaningful response that addresses the substance of the request.

1.4 Registrants must hold paramount

- (a) the safety, health and welfare of the public, including the protection of the environment; and
- (b) the promotion of health and safety in the workplace.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(a)).

This Professional Standard is a restatement of fundamental ethical expectations that have been in place for the profession of architecture for decades. The public safety and protection of environment element is generally met by having regard to all relevant laws, including regulations and codes. This ‘compliance with laws’ expectation has been and remains a standalone Professional Standard for Registrants (see PS4.1).

The promotion of health and safety in the workplace element reflects both the profession’s obligation to meet relevant standards for design for workplaces (e.g., Building Code expectations, specific WorkSafeBC requirements, etc.), as well as a general obligation to provide healthy and safe workplaces for colleagues and employees, whether at the office or when Registrants are attending a construction site (e.g., avoiding and addressing harassment and discrimination and complying with health and safety laws).

For architecture, this overarching Professional Standard reinforces Registrants’ obligation to provide services competently and with regard to public and workplace safety and environmental protection. The requirement to “hold paramount” public safety and protection of the environment means that this principle (as with many professional obligations) overrides values or interests (e.g., shortcutting regulatory approvals or clients’ commercial gain) that conflict with it.

Importantly, the workplace health and safety standard does not impose additional obligations on Registrants in relation to construction and demolition site safety beyond those that may already apply by contract or laws, including regulations, codes and bylaws.

2.0 Specific Obligations to Clients and Colleagues

2.1 Registrants must maintain the confidentiality of confidential Client information and not disclose such information except:

- (a) with Client consent;
- (b) where required to deliver such information to the AIBC;
- (c) as may be required by law; or
- (d) in the event the Registrant believes on reasonable grounds that there is an imminent risk of serious public harm.

This Professional Standard reinforces the expectation that as trusted professional advisers and service providers, Registrants will protect confidential Client information. Many professions have similar standards. Most Client-Architect Contracts also address confidentiality as a contractual obligation. Registrants should be aware of and comply with both professional and contractual confidentiality obligations.

The standard does not provide a definition of confidential Client information. That information may vary with the Client-Architect relationship, timing of the Project, the nature of the commission, and contract language, among other variables. For example, unless specifically agreed to by the parties (most effectively in the Client-Architect Contract or confidentiality agreement), confidential information would not normally include the fact that an Architect has obtained a commission. The architectural fee and Project budget information, however, would normally be considered confidential.

The essence of the standard is recognition that a Registrant is likely to become aware of confidential Client information and must protect it, subject to the exceptions. The hallmarks of confidential information are that it:

- Was obtained by virtue of the professional relationship between Client and Registrant;
- May be expressly identified by the Client as confidential, or would be considered as such by a reasonable Registrant;
- Is not in the public realm; and
- Carries with it some economic benefit to the Client, such that its unauthorized disclosure has potential to damage the Client's project, business, reputation, and/or prospects.

2.2 Registrants must not supplant or attempt to supplant another Registrant after the preceding Registrant has been retained or definite steps have been taken toward the other Registrant's retention.

Subject to the terms of the Client-Architect Contract, a Client is free at any time to terminate the business engagement with a Registrant. This standard does not protect mismatched Clients and Registrants. For the benefit of the Client and the Project or commission, it is intended to protect the relationship between a Client and Registrant from unethical interruption by another Registrant.

The basis of competent professional practice on behalf of the public rests in part on the strength of the relationship between Client and Registrant. Hence, when the Client has made a choice, other Registrants must cease their overtures.

This restriction does not prevent Registrants from approaching a potential Client who has a broader program of prospective work which is not yet allocated to another Registrant.

For the purposes of this Professional Standard, “supplanting” means taking (or attempting to take) the place of another Registrant in a manner that is unethical. Such behaviour would include interfering in a way that prevents a Client from establishing a commercial relationship with another Registrant or causes the Client to breach or terminate its contract with another Registrant.

- 2.3 A Registrant must not falsely or maliciously injure the professional reputation or business prospects of another Registrant.

This Professional Standard does not prohibit Registrants from making fair and honest comments on the work of other Registrants. Such comment must be based on considered knowledge of the Project or subject in question, representing an informed, legitimate point of view.

A listener is entitled to expect that Registrants providing comments do so knowledgeably. Registrants’ comment must withstand scrutiny in order to be regarded as credible.

This Professional Standard does not prevent unsolicited public statements or architectural criticism. The standard also applies to the provision of advice or services for which a Registrant is paid, including those as an arbitrator or as a provider of “second” or “expert” opinion with respect to another Registrant’s project(s), documents or services.

Registrants should avoid imprudent gossip or generalized comments about other Registrants, their work or reputation, or type of project. The proliferation of digital and social media facilitates immediate and influential commentary. Registrants are reminded that the convenience, reach, and power of such platforms must be balanced by the expectations set by this and other relevant standards.

3.0 Competency and Continuing Education

- 3.1 In practising the profession of architecture, Architects must act with reasonable care and competence, and must apply the knowledge, skill and judgement, ordinarily applied by Architects practising in the province of British Columbia.

- 3.2 Non-Architect Registrants must act with reasonable care and competence and must apply the knowledge, skill and judgment ordinarily applied by Registrants in their Registrant category.

These standards reflect the baseline expectation that Architects/Temporary Licensees provide competent services measured against the standards ordinarily applied to Architects, while non-Architect Registrants must demonstrate competency to the level required by their Registrant category.

It is a Registrant's responsibility to recognize personal impairment to the ability to function competently and, when so impaired, to withdraw from practising until competence is restored. This includes impairment arising from physical or mental health issues, financial difficulties and personal or family matters serious enough to cause Registrants to be unable to satisfy professional standards.

- 3.3 Registrants must practice only in those fields where training and ability make them professionally competent.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(b)).

This Professional Standard replaces former Bylaw 30.3 and its council rulings, which addressed similar obligations to recognize personal and professional limitations.

An Architect is authorized to undertake architectural services for any Project, but must recognize personal and professional limitations and must refrain from rendering service in those areas until such limitations are overcome.

Architects are reminded that it is permissible to engage others, including staff and consultants, in any architectural practice area, as long as such services are provided under the Architect's competent supervision, management and coordination. Other professionals must be engaged (whether by Client or the Architect) to provide complementary services (such as Professional Engineering) where required by law.

- 3.4 Registrants must maintain competence in relevant specializations, including advances in the Regulated Practice and relevant science.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(e)).

The profession and practice of architecture in British Columbia does not include specializations. Instead, this Professional Standard establishes the expectation that Registrants who formally hold themselves out as having enhanced qualifications are expected to maintain competency and currency in such areas.

For example, Architects who obtain the Certified Professional qualification and are listed as “CPs” would be expected to demonstrate the competencies expected of an Architect in such role, and to maintain currency of knowledge and qualifications as required.

- 3.5 Registrants must undertake work and documentation with due diligence and in accordance with any AIBC guidance developed to standardize professional documentation.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(l)).

This Professional Standard reinforces the general competency obligation in the profession, with specific reference to the importance of preparing and maintaining adequate documentation. Conceptually, “due diligence” means the review and assessment of risk and harm at any stage of architectural services, as well as steps taken to mitigate such concerns. In practice, “due diligence” is the level of judgement and care that Registrants are reasonably expected to apply when providing services. It denotes a level of quality control and review to reduce errors and ensure all relevant laws, guidance and standards have been considered.

The connection between due diligence and documentation in this PGA-mandated standard reflects the greater likelihood that documented procedures, such as quality reviews and checklists, reduce negative outcomes in professional practices. It also reflects the expectation that Registrants maintain adequate, retrievable records.

- 3.6 Registrants who are CES Participants must undertake continuing education and report on that continuing education to the AIBC, in accordance with the Bylaws and Board Rules.

[See Schedule P: Board Rules for the Continuing Education System]

4.0 Compliance with Laws and Standards

- 4.1 Registrants must have regard for and not knowingly violate:

- (a) the common law and any applicable enactments, federal enactments or enactments of another province;
- (b) applicable standards, policies, plans and practices established by the government or the AIBC; and
- (c) The Professional Governance Act, Architects Regulation, and the Bylaws including the Code of Ethics.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Sections 57(2)(c) and (d)).

The phrase “have regard for” can be understood to mean to be aware of and consider the impact and application of laws to Projects and professional practice. The addition of the phrase “and not knowingly violate” incorporates former Bylaw 33.1. The standard also replaces former Bylaws 33.3, 33.4, and 34.4, all of which required compliance with laws.

This Professional Standard requires Registrants to take into account and not knowingly breach applicable laws. This includes statutes (often called “Acts”) and regulations (together, these are called “enactments” under the PGA). Since municipal bylaws flow from the authority of provincial law, they are also included, as are forms, rules and other instruments created by a statute. PS 4.1(b) confirms the requirement to have regard for and not knowingly violate standards, policies, plans and practices as they relate to the practice of the profession of architecture. However, Registrants may encounter standards, policies and plans, notably from local governments, that conflict or appear to conflict with Professional Standards. One common example is the expectation by an authority that certain documents be sealed, when the Professional Standard states they must not be sealed. In such cases, Registrants must follow the Professional Standard, and should advise the authority of the conflict, provide the AIBC documentation in support of the Professional Standard, and seek practice advice from the AIBC.

The reference to “common law” means law that has been created by Canadian court judgments over time, sometimes known as “case law” or “judge-made law”. For Registrants, having regard for the “common law” includes an awareness of laws primarily relating to the law of contracts and torts. Torts are also known as “civil wrongs” and include negligence, product liability, assault and harassment, and trespass. In addition, the very law of professional regulation, including admissions and professional conduct decisions, are part of the common law.

The practice of the profession of architecture is influenced by statute law, which includes the Professional Governance Act and its Regulations (including the Architects Regulation) and the BC Building Code, which has the legal status of a regulation. Builders lien legislation and local government bylaws are other examples of statute law. This Professional Standard absorbs former Bylaw 33.3, which required Registrants to comply with the Architects Act and AIBC Bylaws – now the Professional Governance Act and these Bylaws.

The public has the expectation that Registrants respect and substantially comply with laws and regulations that apply to the practice of architecture, excluding those concerning construction safety (the field of construction safety being outside the practice of architecture). This includes federal, provincial and municipal laws (bylaws) as well as the regulations of statutory bodies.

Registrants must keep themselves apprised of current applicable laws and regulations that relate to the practice of architecture in British Columbia. Registrants are not expected to be familiar with the details of all laws and regulations in every jurisdiction. However, they are expected to have general knowledge of specific laws and regulations in the jurisdictions in which they are working, and also which authorities have jurisdiction over particular aspects relating to the practice of architecture.

Registrants may rely on the advice of other professionals and persons qualified by education, experience or training to provide interpretations on applicable enactments and standards. Such persons may include local government officials, legal counsel, and other professionals.

A Registrant seeking to promote or to provide architectural services outside British Columbia, or to a client or on a project located outside British Columbia, should check in advance and comply with the requirements of the applicable regulator of Architects.

- 4.2 Registrants must not counsel or condone employees, consultants, associates or other parties to violate or fail to give regard to applicable enactments and standards established by government or the AIBC, including the Professional Governance Act, Architects Regulation, and the Bylaws, including the Code of Ethics.

This Professional Standard replaces the former council ruling to Bylaw 33.3 and covers a wide spectrum of possible practice scenarios. It is possible for Registrants to be asked to participate or drawn into participation with the illegal practice of architecture by non-registrants. Registrants are reminded that contravention of the reserved titles and Reserved Practice legal boundaries in the profession of architecture by any party is an offence under the PGA.

5.0 Architectural Services: Engagement and Communication

- 5.1 Registrants are not permitted to provide architectural services to a Client until the following conditions are satisfied:

- (a) An executed Client-Architect Contract is in place in compliance with Professional Standard 5.2; and
- (b) The Client has been advised in writing:
 - (i) whether professional liability insurance is in place in relation to the architectural services to be provided for the commission; and
 - (ii) that the certificate of insurance for the professional liability insurance policy in (i) is available for review by the Client upon request, or has been provided.

A Client is entitled to be notified of the fundamental insurance coverage a Registrant carries for the contracted services. As required by Schedule M: Board Rules for the Professional Liability Insurance (PLI), a certificate of insurance must include at least the following information:

- The name of the certificate of practice holder as registered with the AIBC as an insured entity;
- The minimum per claim amount and the aggregate amount;
- The effective and expiry coverage dates; and
- A statement that the PLI coverage has no restrictions to impact the minimum coverage thresholds, which would need to draw down from the same aggregate amount.

- 5.2 The Client-Architect Contract must be a standard form contract approved by the Board, or be substantially conforming in all material respects to such standard contract in relation to services, responsibilities and general conditions.

Those standard form contracts approved by the AIBC Board are listed and discussed in Practice Guidelines: Standard Form Contracts and available on the AIBC website or by contacting the AIBC's Practice Advisors. Registrants are reminded that PS 7.6 requires Registrants to have regard for the Schedules of Architectural Services prior to entering into a Client-Architect Contract.

Architects not using an approved standard form contract are reminded that the document used must conform to approved contracts in the manner stipulated in the Professional Standard.

- 5.3 Certification as to construction performance and as to payment therefor requires such general review of the work as the Architect deems necessary.

- 5.4 Registrants must communicate adequately with Clients and keep them reasonably informed.

The level of communication with Clients varies with the Client and the nature of the commission. At minimum, Registrants owe a duty to explain the nature of the services the Firm will provide, and to respond in a timely manner to Clients' reasonable requests for information and other Client communication requiring a reply. Adequate and informed communication also includes advising Clients in a timely manner of important commission issues such as delays, cost concerns, etc.

This Professional Standard is an overarching Client communication expectation and is supplemented by other communication-oriented standards, such as those requiring Registrants to notify Clients of professional liability insurance status, the scope of professional services to be provided, etc.

- 5.5 An Architect may only provide the same service for the same Client on the same Project as another Architect through the medium of an approved competition.

The "same Client" includes technically different individuals, authorities or departments connected to or part of a broader Client.

This Professional Standard prohibits participation in unsanctioned competitions but does permit fair review, analysis or expert opinion services by a "second" Architect because either the Client, or the services, will be different for each Architect.

- 5.6 Except in an approved competition, Registrants must not provide any architectural service to a Client until retained under Client-Architect Contract and in receipt of the Client's instructions.

Public expressions, submission or dialogues with respect to architectural issues, undertaken without compensation in the community interest and without having or seeking or anticipating a Client, are permitted.

Speculative services to lure or entice a client, or "loss leaders", are not permitted.

This Professional Standard means that prior to being retained, Registrants are not permitted to provide solutions, suggestions, ideas or evidence of same (in any format) which have value to the Client or upon which the Client might be expected to rely.

The foregoing applies not only to design, costing and technical matters but also to considerations of management, methodology and scheduling information beyond that which is required for Architects to determine and submit a credible proposal for services and fees.

In making an expression of interest or proposal to a prospective Client, an Architect may promote the Firm's experience, capabilities, resources and capacity to demonstrate the Firm's suitability, including an understanding of that Client's needs and the project's relevant issues.

- 5.7 Before offering services to a Client for a building not requiring an Architect and without the Direct Supervision of an Architect, an Intern Architect, Architectural Technologist or Retired Architect must notify the Client, in writing, that:
- (a) they are registered with the AIBC and inform the Client as to their registration category or subcategory; and
 - (b) whether professional liability insurance is held for such services and under what terms.
- 5.8 Before or as part of any submission to an authority made by an Intern Architect, Architectural Technologist or Retired Architect without the Direct Supervision of an Architect, such Registrant must notify the authority, in writing, that they are registered with the AIBC and inform the authority as to their specific registration category or subcategory.

These Professional Standards (formerly council rulings) are intended to address possible confusion on the part of Clients or authorities about non-Architect Individual Registrants' status when such individuals are not permitted to:

- hold themselves out as Architects;
- practice in the Reserved Practice unless directly supervised by an Architect; or
- apply an Architect's Seal or operate an Architectural Firm.

The notification requirements would be satisfied by including the information within any contract prior to its execution (for Clients) and by including the information with any submission, such as a drawing (for authorities).

The following or reasonably similar phrasing would satisfy these Professional Standards:

I [name] am registered as an [Intern Architect AIBC; Architectural Technologist AIBC; or Retired Architect AIBC] with the AIBC.

For notification to authorities, including this wording in the title block for drawings would satisfy the requirements:

Registered [Intern Architect] [Architectural Technologist] [Retired Architect] of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

I [name] carry professional liability insurance in the amount of [$_____] per claim and [$_____] in aggregate.

I [name] do not carry professional liability insurance in any amount.

- 5.9 A Registrant may only accept a commission for a Project when the services of any Registrant previously retained for the Project have been terminated.
- 5.10 A Registrant contacted by a potential client in circumstances where the Registrant knows or can ascertain by reasonable inquiry that another Registrant (the “predecessor Registrant”) is or has been engaged, must:
- (a) advise the potential client in writing that if requested to provide a proposal for services, the Registrant has a duty to notify the predecessor Registrant of the request by the potential client; and
 - (b) in the event the potential client requests a proposal for services from the Registrant, that Registrant must promptly notify the predecessor Registrant in writing of the request.

Prompt’ notification means without delay – normally, on the same or next business day.

The ethical responsibility for notifying the other Registrant lies with the new Registrant and cannot be delegated to the potential Client or other person. The notification obligation exists whether the other Registrant is understood or suspected to still be under contract with their Client (or former Client), or no longer under contract. Professional Standard 5.11 addresses the importance of contract termination and related requirements for a successor Registrant making a proposal for and/or starting services.

This Professional Standard requires the termination, but not necessarily the financial resolution, of the predecessor Registrant’s services prior to a successor Registrant providing services.

- 5.11 A Registrant taking over a Project (“successor Registrant”) is only permitted to provide a proposal for services, enter into a contract for services, or provide services that are based upon, and which continue and complete, those initiated by the predecessor Registrant, if:
- (a) there has been no supplanting of the predecessor Registrant by the successor; and
 - (b) the successor Registrant has received written confirmation from the predecessor Registrant of the termination of the predecessor’s services or has received no reply from the predecessor Registrant within 10 business days of making a request for confirmation of termination.

This Professional Standard requires a Registrant taking over a Project to have not supplanted the first Registrant, and to have received confirmation of termination of the predecessor’s services from such

Registrant or no response within 10 business days of requesting termination confirmation. (“Business days” mean a day other than a Saturday, Sunday, or a provincial or federal holiday.)

Previously, this Professional Standard prohibited the successor Registrant using the predecessor’s services if there was a fee dispute about such services. The modern, updated standard does not diminish copyright or fee payment rights of Registrants, but does reinforce the obligation on Registrants to assert such private law and statutory rights rather than have them become the focus of a professional conduct complaint.

The balance of this commentary refers to Architects and Client-Architect Contracts given the prevalence of application of this scenario to Architects’ projects. The Professional Standard and commentary apply equally, however, to situations in which non-Architect Registrants may be providing services in the Regulated Practice, or where either the predecessor and successors may be from different registration categories (e.g., an Architect taking over a single-family home renovation Project (outside of the Reserved Practice) from an Intern Architect).

Architects who have been terminated by the Client or who terminate services are entitled to be paid for their services and disbursements in accordance with the Client-Architect Contract. Such contracts generally include dispute resolution clauses.

In addition to contractual rights to payment, Architects retain copyright in their design (unless sold or licensed) under federal law. Architects have been successful in lawsuits in asserting copyright in relation to fee disputes and ownership of design. Even when project takeovers occur cooperatively, uncertainty may persist about copyright and liability issues. The AIBC recommends that wherever possible, the predecessor and successor Architects consider entering into a simple agreement or ‘memorandum of understanding’ confirming such issues as copyright, liability, and project attribution obligations. Both Registrants should seek legal and insurance advice prior to confirming these important aspects of a change of Architect on a Project.

Architects also have lien rights under the BC Builders Lien Act. Registrants asserting copyright and/or lien rights should seek legal advice and recognize limitation periods may apply.

In circumstances where fees are disputed and/or where a property has been purchased by a new owner, successor Architects should proceed with due diligence and caution. Where unpaid fees are claimed for instruments of services attached to the predecessor Architect’s copyright (e.g., drawings), the successor Architect’s use of such documentation may constitute copyright infringement on the part of the successor Architect and Client. Relying solely on the Client’s information or assurances about fee payment may not provide adequate risk management.

5.12 Registrants must provide professional opinions that distinguish between facts, assumptions and opinions.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(g)).

In architecture, this standard is directed at a relatively narrow band of formal professional opinions, not the day-to-day advice and judgments that Registrants provide in various formats, whether written or verbal. However, Registrants are reminded that as professionals, providing opinions in any forum, or statements that may be interpreted as opinions, carries risks.

This standard relates specifically to:

- expert opinions including expert reports provided for litigation (court cases), tribunals, inquests, professional misconduct and arbitration purposes – one of the hallmarks of which is formal separation among facts, assumptions and opinions; and
- specific requests for professional opinions under a professional engagement. As an example, Architects may be engaged to provide building assessment reports to Clients. Such reports should distinguish and make clear factual matters of relevance (such as the date of building construction) from assumptions (such as the use of gypsum board as a wall finish, where the composition of the wall finish has not been verified as fact by the Registrant). Professional opinions are conclusions calling for independent, objective judgment and are founded on facts, assumptions and the training and experience Registrants bring to a commission.
- Situations in which Registrants sit on boards, committees or similar bodies (e.g. advisory design panels, appeal and variance boards, interpretation committees). Opinions in these settings attract the expectation of clarity among facts, assumption, and opinions.

This Professional Standard does not require Registrants to re-structure or re-format their reports, but instead to ensure that professional opinions and the relevant facts and assumptions underlying opinions are identified.

5.13 Registrants must present clearly to employers and clients the possible consequences if professional decisions or judgments are overruled or disregarded.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(j)).

This standard formalizes the general expectation in any regulated profession that professionals identify risks and consequences of not following advice, decisions, or judgments.

The standard does not impose an obligation that Registrants identify every consequence for every decision or judgment in carrying out the practice of the profession of architecture. Professional decisions or judgments that are critical or substantive, the disregard of which could create risks of harm to the public or the environment, or carry substantive financial costs including property damage or devaluation, trigger an expectation that consequences are communicated.

When professional judgments are questioned, a Registrant should ensure that the relevant parties clearly understand the concerns and professional basis for them, and that such parties' perspectives are also considered. Many 'differences of opinion', whether with Clients, third parties or professionals from other disciplines, can be resolved through better communication and explanation.

When a Registrant's professional judgments are disregarded, the Registrant should record the concerns, and relevant implications, in writing and communicate them to the Client. As an example, if an Architect is unable to sign and Seal a Letter of Assurance because advice has been disregarded, there is an obligation to record the issue and to specifically notify the Client and identify possible consequences.

As with many Professional Standards, the threshold for determining what decisions or judgments would trigger this obligation is a matter of judgment left to the discretion of each professional, acting reasonably and competently. Importantly, the disregard by others of some professional decisions or judgments may also trigger the Professional Standard that requires mandatory notification of:

- unlawful action by an employer or client (PS: 10.7);
- breaches of standards by Registrants (PS: 10.6 and 10.8); and
- the general 'duty to report' obligation under the PGA, Section 58.

5.14 Registrants must communicate adequately and in a timely manner with authorities having jurisdiction.

As with other Professional Standards related to communicating adequately with Clients (PS 5.4) and responding to the AIBC when required (PS 1.3), this standard is founded on the expectation of professional 'presence'. Local governments – building officials and other staff, elected officials, panels, etc. – rely on Architects and other Registrants to provide information and remain in contact as may reasonably be required.

While the level and nature of communication with AHJs varies with the situation, inordinately delayed, incomplete, or complete non-responsiveness may be grounds for discipline.

The obligation to communicate with AHJs:

- should not be delegated to unqualified staff, including other Registrants, who are unable to meet the requirement for adequate communication; and
- is the responsibility of Registrants, not Clients or others such as subconsultants.

Some Architects elect to act as permit 'applicants' on their Clients' behalf, despite such practice elevating risks to the Architect and owner, including the possibility of exclusion of liability insurance coverage for the responsibilities/liabilities of the applicant Architect. The obligation to communicate adequately/in a timely manner with the AHJ is not diminished when acting as 'applicant'. In fact, stepping into the shoes of the owner by acting as applicant may heighten the communication expectations and obligations between Architect and AHJ.

6.0 Architectural Services: Supervision

6.1 An Architect providing Direct Supervision of non-Architects in the Regulated Practice and Reserved Practice is accountable and responsible for all architectural services provided.

The PGA, Architects Regulation and Bylaws reinforce that only Architects are entitled to engage in the Reserved Practice. Architects practising outside the Reserved Practice in the Regulated Practice (e.g., on a single-family dwelling, where non-Architects can provide service) are still held to all Professional Standards, including supervision expectations. Smaller buildings do not imply lesser standards.

While the delegation of certain aspects of work to non-Architects within the practice of the architectural profession is normal, non-Architects are only permitted to undertake the Reserved Practice under Direct Supervision of an Architect.

Direct Supervision expectations vary with the nature of the service. However, the ability to delegate work under Direct Supervision does not diminish other obligations and Professional Standards, such as allowing Architects to practice in areas where they are not qualified. Architects are expected to have knowledge of and involvement with all stages of their Projects. Delegation of certain work on a Project does not permit 'absentee architecture' nor allow non-Architects, whether Registrants or not, to make crucial decisions and act or be seen as the face of a Project.

Delegation to Intern Architects is a crucial aspect of their development and education leading to registration as Architects, but requires diligent oversight.

Direct Supervision does not necessarily require physical presence. Architects must exercise professional judgment in determining the level of review, oversight, direction, correction, and communication with non-Architects when providing Direct Supervision.

In all cases, Architects must make sure that evidence of supervision is recorded in their files. Architects' input on drafts, iterative design work, review, email, meeting, and phone consultation are all examples of documented supervision.

Those aspects of practice that only Architects can provide (e.g., application of the Seal, making proposals and official submissions per PS: 6.3 and 6.4) must be undertaken by Architects.

- 6.2 Each office offering architectural service to the public must have an Architect available who has direct knowledge of the services provided and is able to provide Direct Supervision of such services.

This Professional Standard requires oversight, care, control, and supervision, but not necessarily physical presence by an Architect. The level of supervision and general management of an office will vary with many factors, including size, number of employees and contractors and the scale and methodology of services provided.

An Architect's site (or auxiliary) office for a specific project is a convenient extension of the base office for a single Project and is not itself permitted to offer or to provide independent architectural services to the public.

Whereas a site office does not offer services to the public, a branch or secondary office may. The public is entitled to expect that the services offered and provided by an Architect's office, including a branch, are supervised and controlled by an Architect.

In branch offices as much as elsewhere, it is important to be cautious to ensure that the public, including Clients, are not misled by any misrepresentations as to staff qualifications and professional status.

- 6.3 Proposals of service; Client-Architect Contracts; assurances; certifications; official submissions to authorities; and similar representations on behalf of a Registrant Firm or Certificate of Practice holder must be made by an Architect.
- 6.4 All formal presentations to an authority on an architectural matter must be made by or under the attending Direct Supervision of an Architect.

The public is entitled to expect that formal representations, including at public hearings, design panels, advisory commissions or to elected bodies on architectural matters be made by an Architect. Under appropriate terms of engagement, it is permissible for an Architect from another Firm to fulfil the 'attending Architect' role to satisfy this standard. Such Architect should be adequately prepared and briefed so that the Client is aware of the appointment, the Client's interests are preserved, and any non-Architect making the presentation, such as an Intern Architect or Retired Architect is appropriately supervised and supported.

- 6.5 An Architect supervising an Intern Architect must sign and comply with the supervision undertaking established by the Board.

7.0 Architectural Services: Architectural Competitions, Schedules of Architectural Services and Pro Bono Services

- 7.1 Registrants are only permitted to participate in an architectural competition that is either conducted according to architectural competition rules approved by the Board, or an alternate arrangement, specifically approved by the Board.

Registrants unsure whether a 'competition' requires approval or is approved should contact an AIBC Practice Advisor. Registrants invited to participate in a non-approved competition should decline the opportunity and notify the AIBC (per reporting obligations).

'Competitions' that do not require AIBC approval include awards programs for buildings already built; design competitions for structures that are not buildings; competitions for buildings that do not require an Architect, and requests for proposals that are in accordance with requests for qualifications.

- 7.2 Registrants' conduct when participating in an approved competition must comply with the architectural competition rules or alternate arrangement approved by the Board.

- 7.3 Registrants must not attempt to influence the awards of an approved competition, except as a jury member.

Queries, communications and clarifications of competition conditions may be made only as directed by the rules of the competition.

- 7.4 Registrants must not attempt to obtain a commission to be awarded by an approved competition, except as an entrant.

Any effort to circumvent the competition process would be considered supplanting and is unprofessional.

- 7.5 Registrants receiving monies for services provided by others must not use such monies for the Registrants' own purposes, and must distribute them promptly to those so entitled.

This Professional Standard requires Registrants to fulfil the expectation that funds received on behalf of others will be properly managed.

Receiving monies for services provided by others would include fees or disbursements invoiced to a Client for project-related services, provided under contract to the Architect by subconsultants and suppliers.

The monies received should be distributed or paid to others and not diverted for the Registrant's own purposes and therefore be inaccessible. Payment may be in full or on a pro-rata basis on the monies received. Payment must be made "promptly" as agreed on the basis of good business practice, (e.g., monthly or upon receipt of monies).

- 7.6 Architects must have regard for the AIBC Schedules of Architectural Services with Fee Guidelines prior to entering into a Client-Architect Contract.

This Professional Standard replaces the language in former Bylaw 34.16. The intent of the standard, as with the previous 'Tariff Bylaw', is to focus attention on the scope and quality of architectural services provided to the public, and to enhance Client (and public) understanding of the services required to competently complete Projects.

The phrase "have regard for" can be understood to mean to be aware of and consider the impact and application of the Schedules of Architectural Services to the Project, particularly in relation to ensuring the appropriate range of services is contracted for and provided.

Appropriate and adequate service is the critical issue. Inadequate fees are not an acceptable excuse for inadequate services.

The fee guidelines are general guidelines of appropriate fees for services, not a list of median (or minimum, or maximum) fees nor a price list. They do not specify what the fee for a specific Project must be. Rather, the guidelines are a budgeting check that warns when appropriate fee levels are breached and that the real likelihood of inadequate services has been reached. The provision of inadequate services is contrary to the public interest and the schedules and fee guidelines are one of many preventative measures employed by the profession to guard against inadequate services.

7.7 Registrants may provide pro bono services under the following conditions:

- (a) the level and competency of architectural services must be no less than if provided for fee;
- (b) the Registrant and Client must enter into a Client-Architect Contract and otherwise abide by all relevant Professional Standards; and
- (c) no fee or other compensation may be charged or received, and all services for the Project must be provided pro bono.

Pro bono is a common abbreviation of the phrase “pro bono publico”, which means “for the public good”. Architects must judge for themselves whether a particular Client and Project are deserving of the public service commitment inherent in providing pro bono services. The provision or offer of pro bono services by Registrants for motivations other than philanthropic, public good or public service should be avoided. Registrants should also carefully consider firm capacity and potential liability exposure prior to agreeing to provide pro bono services.

Pro bono architectural services are those rendered without fee as a public service. They are intended for Clients and Projects that, in the Registrant’s professional opinion, merit such services. In general, pro bono services are intended to assist such deserving Clients as non-profits, community groups, charities, and international development organizations, but only when funding for services is extremely difficult or impossible to obtain. Specific commissions related to public good, such as the conservation of a meritorious building for the benefit of the public, also qualify. Registrants are not permitted to use the provision of pro bono services as a loss leader or other enticement leading to fee-for-service work or for any purpose not in keeping with the inherent ‘public good’ motivation.

Registrants are reminded that the provision of pro bono services does not eliminate or even reduce liability risks from professional conduct or civil liability perspectives. In addition to requiring that a Client-Architect Contract is in place, Architects are reminded that pro bono services for Clients must comply with all applicable Professional Standards. Firms should consult their insurers and take suitable legal and other professional advice prior to entering into a pro bono Client -Architect Contract in order to understand and address risk management issues.

Pro bono services may not be offered or provided for any project that is subject to the rules of an approved competition; for which an Architect already has been retained; or for which definite steps have been taken to retain an Architect.

It is not acceptable to provide service as a donation to be exchanged for a tax deduction. Donations are tax vehicles to implement a social policy wherein monies that would otherwise go to tax receivers are permitted to go to administrators of legally constituted worthy causes. Should a Registrant wish to make a donation, it must not be made as a means of reducing professional fees or obtaining a commission.

Even should the exchange of services for a tax deduction be legal, it does not qualify as “pro bono”, but, rather, is an alternate form of payment. Similarly, the fees that would otherwise be due for “pro bono” services are not to be viewed as un-invoiced “bad debts”. “Pro bono” services are also not negotiable. They cannot be exchanged for goods or services in the underground economy or for favours in an underworld economy, e.g., bribes or kickbacks.

8.0 Architectural Services: Use of Seal

- 8.1 Only Architects are permitted to apply a Seal, and must do so in compliance with the Professional Standards in the Code of Ethics.

Architects should not seal any documents not identified as requiring a Seal under these Professional Standards.

The Architect most directly involved in the preparation, supervision, direction, or control of the preparation of key documents should be the individual applying the Seal, in keeping with the Professional Standards.

An Architect can never “review” and Seal documents prepared by others. An Architect must directly supervise the preparation of document to be sealed.

An Architect must not apply their Seal merely by virtue of Firm ownership or position alone. However, Firms may assign supervising Architect responsibility only to certain Architects within the Firm.

Within a Firm, employed Architects who are preparing documents or who are supervising, directing, or controlling their preparation should be authorized to sign and Seal such documents.

Conversely, no Firm is entitled to force or pressure an Architect to sign and Seal a document for which that Architect is not prepared to take the requisite responsibility.

An Architect who has agreed to take on the responsibility cannot refuse to seal on behalf of the Firm for reasons other than the readiness of the documents for sealing and issue.

- 8.2 Architects must have regard for any Practice Guidelines and commentary in the Code of Ethics in relation to use of the Seal.
- 8.3 An Architect must apply a Seal, with signature and date, to the following documents prepared by or under the Direct Supervision of the Architect:
- (a) drawings and specifications issued for approval or reliance by any party;
 - (b) Letters of Assurance including but not limited to those issued under the BC Building Code and Vancouver Building Bylaw;

- (c) certificates for payment and certificate as to construction performance when acting as a payment certifier under contract; and
- (d) formal reports, including expert reports, building code or zoning analysis reports, building assessment reports, and written opinions.

Drawings

All drawings issued by an Architect for approval by an authority or for reliance by a Client or third party, including the public, must be sealed, regardless of building size or whether it is within the Reserved Practice. This includes drawings issued for rezoning, development permit (including such processes as “development permission”, “preliminary plan approval”, etc.), design panel review, community presentation, building permit, zoning bylaw or building code compliance, bidding, construction (working) drawings, addenda and drawings accompanying change orders, change directives and site instructions.

Drawings submitted for amendments to permit applications must also be sealed.

The requirement for sealing “drawings” under the Code of Ethics is not limited to building permit drawings. The requirement for sealing drawings is not defined by a building code or an authority’s practice, expectations or guidelines.

Drawings used for internal purposes within the Architectural Firm need not be sealed. Similarly, drawings prepared solely for discussion purposes between Architectural Firm and authority, Client, contractor, or consultants need not be sealed. Drawings prepared and delivered for the purpose of seeking fee proposals from consultants, including other Architects, need not be sealed.

Drawings not required to be sealed should include a notice to indicate the specific purpose behind their preparation and delivery.

Architects should never Seal “contractor mark-up” or “as-built” drawings. If required to be provided by contract or by an authority, Architects must Seal “final design drawings” which are drawings produced by the Architect that incorporate Architect directed changes that occurred during construction.

Specifications

All specifications issued by an Architect for approval or reliance by a Client, authority or, the public must be signed and sealed. Where specifications are issued separately from drawings, in bound or binder format, as opposed to as an integral part of sealed drawings, the Seal should appear on the first appropriate page of the specification that describes their contents. Specifications should include a table of contents listing all specifications sections and number of pages. It should be clear to a reader the extent of the document to which the Seal applies. When bound specifications include drawings (or any other instrument of service) that must be sealed on their own merits, such documents should be sealed separately within the bound document. When sealed via Digital Certificate, the specifications may be issued as a single file or multiple files. Each file issued must be sealed, i.e., have its own Digital Certificate.

Letters of Assurance

Letters of Assurance requiring an Architect's Seal are those endorsed by the AIBC, including those from the BC Building Code, Vancouver International Airport Authority (YVR) letters, First Nations, Ministry of Transport and AIBC/EGBC Model Schedule D in some municipalities. Unendorsed or 'rogue' letters must not be sealed, and such documents should be brought to the AIBC Practice Advisor's attention.

Letters of Assurance are vital accountability documents and must only be provided in strict compliance with the applicable code, local government bylaw, or other enactment. Architects, other Registrants and the public should consult with most recent edition of the Guide to Letters of Assurance, AIBC Practice Guidelines and AIBC website for detailed information.

Certificates

An Architect must Seal certificates for payment and certificates as to construction performance (e.g., certificates of completion under the Builders Lien Act), when so contracted and functioning as "payment certifier" under lien legislation.

Reports

The application of the Seal to architectural reports, reinforces the solemn confirmation that an Architect has applied professional judgment in the preparation for the document and that it is intended for reliance for the purpose and by the party intended.

8.4 Architects must not apply their Seal:

- (a) to documents not prepared by them or under their Direct Supervision;
- (b) to blank documents, including drawing templates, title blocks, Letters of Assurance or other incomplete or unchecked documents;
- (c) to any document not prepared under the Architect's direction and control such as as-built drawings from contractor mark-ups or shop drawings;
- (d) as a commercial or business seal;
- (e) on correspondence, such as fee proposals and business letters, that do not constitute professional advice; or
- (f) to declarations on professional liability insurance.

A third party request or demand for an Architect to apply the Seal to documents that are not mandated for sealing as a Professional Standard is not authoritative.

8.5 Architects transmitting documents electronically must apply their Seal with an AIBC-approved Digital Certificate.

Applying an image (picture) of an Architect's professional Seal and signature is not the same as digitally signing and sealing that document with a Digital Certificate. An image alone of a Seal is not secure, and any such document is vulnerable to being seamlessly modified by others without the issuing Architect's knowledge. The application of a Seal graphic (such as JPEG, PDF, BMP, etc) to documents or the scanning of sealed paper documents does not constitute acceptable digital sealing of such documents.

It is fundamental to the protection of the public that the Seal applied by an Architect is secure, i.e. that it can be reasonably relied upon as being accurate and not having been tampered with. For electronically transmitted documents, the only acceptable means of signing and sealing is with the AIBC digital signature "Digital Certificate".

The AIBC has secured digital document certification technology for use by Architects. Along with the Engineers and Geoscientists BC, the AIBC has contracted certification services for the issuance of the AIBC digital signature through Notarius, a Certificate authority founded by the Quebec Society of Notaries Public (Chambre des Notaires du Québec).

Notarius provides the technology and security services through which professionals can sign, Seal and deliver electronic documents safely and in a manner that meets AIBC regulatory requirements.

Other methods of maintaining security, such as those provided by various proprietary computer applications, do not meet this Professional Standard. Only through Notarius process is a digitally-sealed document acceptable.

8.6 Architects using an electronic Seal must securely maintain their Digital Certificate password.

Whether a Seal is applied manually or electronically, the Architect with the responsibility for sealing the document must review and Seal the work personally and maintain the integrity of the Architect's Seal.

9.0 Conflicts of Interest

9.1 Registrants must:

- (a) avoid situations and circumstances in which there is a real or perceived conflict of interest; and
- (b) ensure conflicts of interest, including perceived conflicts of interest, are properly disclosed and necessary measures are taken so a conflict of interest does not bias decisions or recommendations.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(b)). This Professional Standard echoes the longstanding expectation in the profession's Code of Ethics to avoid, disclose, and address real or perceived conflicts of interest.

This commentary related to conflicts of interest that cover a broad spectrum of scenarios in the practise of the profession of architecture, particularly as the Architect is often in a 'lynchpin' position as client representative, coordinating registered professional, interpreter of the Architect's own instruments of service, etc. All of the Professional Standards in Section 9.0 of the Code of Ethics relate to conflicts of interest of various kinds, including those where disclosure and mitigation ('taking necessary measures') may allow a Registrant to continue providing professional services.

"Real Conflicts"

One of the most obvious conflict scenarios is a Registrant soliciting or receiving compensation/benefit from suppliers in return for endorsing or specifying a product or services. In such stark cases, disclosure and 'agreement' would not satisfy what would be a clear and true conflict of interest.

The overtures of suppliers should be evaluated with caution. It is acceptable to become educated about a product by attending gratuitous seminars and participating in promotional trips for familiarization. It is not acceptable to receive inducements (financial or otherwise) which may be seen as impairments to one's professional judgement.

Other examples that target the core of the public's confidence in Registrants' professionalism would include providing gifts or other inducements (other than nominal hospitality as may be reasonable) to influence a prospective client, or gifts or other 'instruments of influence' to public officials.

This professional standard prohibits attempts to inappropriately influence public decision-making. Public officials means individuals with authority to make or influence public decisions, whether elected, appointed or otherwise retained.

While nominal entertainment and hospitality extended by Registrants are permitted where circumstances warrant, Registrants should always be aware of perception created in all dealings with public officials.

Disclose and Mitigate (take "necessary measures")

An example of disclosure/necessary measures includes the "multiple loyalties" scenario in which a Registrant accepts compensation for services from more than one party on a project. Full disclosure and agreement by all parties providing compensation must be in place before services can be ethically provided to second/subsequent parties.

The obligation to disclose and address conflicts is a continuing professional expectation, and is not limited to the pre-project or early project stages or early client relationship.

Broad disclosure of conflicts/potential conflicts, including to subconsultants and project team members is generally the most effective means of addressing concerns about bias or improper conduct.

A Registrant's name, portrait or reputation may be attached to an endorsement of other's services or products on projects to which the Registrant is not connected, for personal benefit, as long as such conditions do not influence professional judgment. Endorsement could be in the form of reference letter, announcement or advertisement.

9.2 Registrants with a pre-existing personal association or interest in a Project for which they are providing services must:

- (a) fully disclose in writing to clients or employers the personal association or interest as soon as the Registrant is made or becomes aware of the potential conflict; and
- (b) if the client or employer objects, terminate the personal association or interest or offer to give up the commission or employment.

An association or interest in a Project includes but is not limited to friendship or family relationships. A personal interest in a Project includes but is not limited to direct or indirect potential for financial or material gain.

9.3 An Architect acting as the interpreter of construction contract documents and reviewing construction for conformance with the contract documents must render decisions impartially.

This Professional Standard confirms that Architects cannot favour the Client or contractor during the Architect's impartial administration of construction contracts.

An Architect must interpret construction contract documents as if disinterested, regardless of which party in a project's administrative structure engages/compensates the Architect. Impartial decisions may reflect adversely on perceptions of the quality of the design or documents produced by the Architect. This cannot deter impartiality. The Architect should seek advice from legal counsel or direction from professional liability insurers when situations arise where impartial decisions may imply, or cause others to infer, an acknowledgement of responsibility or potential liability by the Architect.

9.4 A Registrant who is a Project's owner or contractor and providing professional services to such Project must:

- (a) disclose in writing such status to all of the Project's authorities and contracting parties;
- (b) receive and record written acknowledgement of such disclosure; and
- (c) provide professional services as if disinterested.

If the Registrant is acting as an owner, only, and not providing architectural services, no disclosure is required. When disclosure is required, it must identify the Registrant personally by name as owner or contractor, or both, regardless of degree of ownership. The Project's authorities include the officials known to the Registrant to be in charge of the various aspects of the Project's review and approval process from the authorizing or rezoning applications through development permit applications, building permit applications, etc.

The Project's "contracting parties" include those parties known to the Registrant to be in contract with the Registrant, the owner, and construction contractor (or construction manager or project manager).

Disclosure should be made at the earliest opportunity, and also recorded in the Registrant's construction contract documents and application forms to authorities.

Financial interests must not override professional responsibility and impartiality. A Registrant who is also a project's owner or contractor should seek direction with respect to availability insurance coverage for such roles, which may affect or not be covered by mandatory PLI for professional services.

- 9.5 An Architect who is a juror or advisor for an approved competition must not subsequently provide any services to the winner or, if there is no winner, for any derivative commission.
- 9.6 A Registrant making a public statement on an architectural issue, whether in writing or verbally, must disclose:
- (a) their Registrant status; and
 - (b) any personal or business interest in the issue.

Refer to Professional Standard 2.3 and commentary for related information.

- 9.7 Registrants serving on an advisory design panel or other like committee, reviewing either a proposal's character or a candidate's qualifications, must make known any involvement in an application being reviewed or any other relationship that might constitute a conflict of interest and withdraw from the meeting and any discussion or evaluation of the merits of that matter.
- 9.8 Registrants having a direct financial interest in any building material or device which they propose to specify for a Project must disclose this interest to the Client, must request and receive written approval for such specification from the Client, and must include a copy of this approval in the construction contract documents.

This Professional Standard prohibits Registrants from receiving benefit in return for merely specifying or "endorsing" (i.e., accepting or approving) others' products for use on a Project.

10.0 Obligations of Disclosure and Reporting

- 10.1 Registrants must provide accurate information in respect of qualifications and experience.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(f)).

It reflects a portion of the obligations related to general accuracy of professional qualifications information found in former AIBC Bylaw 32.2. The balance of that Bylaw related to taking and giving credit (often known as 'project attribution') is found in Professional Standard 10.3 below.

A Registrant using the educational qualification CP designation must have passed the Certified Professional course.

- 10.2 Registrants must clearly identify each Registrant who has contributed professional work, including recommendations, reports, statements or opinions.

This is mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(k)).

This Professional Standard applies to situations in which more than one Architect or Firm are providing services. In such cases it should be clear, for example, in Project documentation which Architect has applied a Seal or is otherwise accepting professional responsibility for recommendations, reports, statements or opinions.

This Professional Standard does not impose an obligation to identify every Registrant engaged by a Firm who provides services under supervision by an Architect on every Project document. The standard is directed at higher-level baseline accountability expectations.

The standard is complementary to the general obligation to give and take credit for architectural services provided as set out in Professional Standard 10.3.

- 10.3 Registrants must accurately represent the scope of their responsibility, and that of other Registrants, in connection for any work for which credit is claimed.

Refer to Practice Guidelines Attribution – Giving and Taking Credit for Architectural Services for in-depth guidance on project attribution.

Professional Standards 10.1-10.5 address the general public's, Architects' and Clients' concerns about the accuracy and credibility of architectural proposals, marketing and other representations and the résumés of architectural job applicants.

Appropriate credit should be given about Projects undertaken with or by other Firms. In some cases, more than one Firm may be given credit, as a result of collaboration on a Project, transition between Firms during a Project's lifespan or other scenario, but not to the exclusion of the original Firm(s).

The more peripheral the services provided by a Firm, Architect or non-Architect Registrants on a project, the more careful such Registrant must be in claiming credit. Architects, Firms, and non-Architect Registrants should take particular care to ensure that graphic representations of Projects – whether photographs, drawings or other media – relate accurately to the services claimed and do not overreach. The public is entitled to know the Firm of record and the level of involvement claimed by any other Architect or Firm on any Project for which credit is claimed.

In addition, non-Architect Registrants claiming credit for work outside the Reserved Practice in the Architects Regulation must be cautious that such depictions do not imply, or lead to an inference, that the individual was an Architect or Firm Registrant. If the non-Architect Registrant provided services for such Projects, credit taken should be appropriate and credit must be given to the original Firm Registrant.

- 10.4 Registrants must not knowingly make or assist others to make, either a false or misleading statement or an omission of material fact about education, training, experience or character when applying for or renewing registration with the AIBC or any other regulator.
- 10.5 Registrants must ensure that all advertising, marketing, and other promotional information is accurate, factual, and not misleading.
- 10.6 Registrants must report to the AIBC and, if applicable, any other appropriate authority, if the Registrant, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes that the continued practice of a Regulated Practice by another Registrant or other person, including Firms and employers, might pose a risk of significant harm to the environment or to the health or safety of the public or a group of people.

This is a mandatory component of the Code of Ethics of any profession established under the Professional Governance Act (Section 57(2)(i)). This Professional Standard arises from the PGA's focus on harm to the public and environment. As with many other Professional Standards, it calls for professional judgment based on the specific circumstances of the risk.

The phrase "reasonable and probable grounds" is a legal standard normally associated with criminal law and law enforcement contexts. For the purposes of the PGA, it can reasonably be understood to mean a subjective belief of a risk that is objectively reasonable from the point of view of a Registrant with similar experience. The "grounds" for such a belief must be defensible and more than a mere suspicion. Registrants faced with a situation in which this Professional Standard may apply are encouraged to contact the AIBC's Professional Practice Advisors and seek professional advice for assistance.

Professional Standard 10.6 is expanded upon by the AIBC's longstanding reporting obligations formerly found in Bylaws 32.3 and 32.5. These obligations are now found as Professional Standards 10.7 and 10.8.

- 10.7 A Registrant, in the provision of services, becomes aware of an action taken by the Registrant's employer or Client, against the Registrant's advice, which violates legal requirements, must not condone or be complicit in such a situation. A Registrant in such a situation must take all reasonable steps to convince such an employer or Client to comply with the legal requirements. The Registrant must:
 - (a) refuse to consent to the action; and, if the action is not rectified in a timely manner, then
 - (b) report the action to the authority and, if the authority confirms the violation and the action is not rectified in a timely manner, then
 - (c) terminate services on the Project.

"Legal requirements" encompass all applicable building laws and regulations that apply to the Project. This includes, for example, health, zoning, development permit and building permit requirements.

This pertains to requirements, which have the force of law, as opposed to those which are only guidelines, opinions, or decisions of a subjective or discretionary nature, rendered without legal authority.

Termination is a last resort in the face of an action taken and persisted with by an employer or a Client, despite the Registrant's advice to the contrary and in contravention of a ruling by the authority, having exhausted available appeals.

Note: Enforcement of the legal requirements with respect to the action is a matter for the authority, not the Registrant. Should the authority determine that the reported action does not constitute a violation, or decide not to require its rectification, such conclusions must be confirmed to the authority in writing by the Registrant, copied to the Client.

10.8 Registrants must promptly notify the AIBC in writing in any of the following circumstances:

- (a) Having reasonable grounds to believe that a non-AIBC Registrant has illegally practised or offered to practise the profession of architecture, or otherwise violated the Professional Governance Act and the Architects Regulation;
- (b) Having reasonable grounds to believe that a Registrant, including oneself, has breached any standard related to competency, professional conduct, or public safety, including any breach of the Code of Ethics;
- (c) Upon filing for assignment or upon being petitioned into bankruptcy or receivership;
- (d) In the event of a finding or admission of professional misconduct, unprofessional conduct, incompetency, conduct unbecoming or other disciplinary breach in another jurisdiction in which the Registrant is registered;
- (e) Upon being charged with an offence under the Criminal Code; and
- (f) Upon receipt or service of a notice of civil claim or other legal proceeding in which allegations are made of professional negligence or fraud.

The underpinning for this reporting/self-reporting requirement is to provide the AIBC with information relevant to its public protection mandate.

Subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this bylaw oblige registrants to report to the AIBC certain instances of non-compliance or possible non-compliance with the Professional Governance Act, the Regulations or key Professional Standards.

Subparagraphs (b) through (f) establish the obligation on Registrants to self-report in certain specific circumstances.

The provision of this information, including notice of legal action, does not automatically trigger a professional conduct investigation. These ethical reporting standards cannot be avoided through confidentiality agreements or otherwise 'contracting out' through release of claims or other mechanisms. Entering into an agreement 'not to notify or complain to the AIBC' may itself constitute a Discipline Violation. However, Registrants unsure whether to report or self-report may contact the AIBC's Practice Advisors to discuss the matter on a hypothetical and 'no-names' basis.

Information received by Registrants when acting in certain legal capacities, such as a lawyer, mediator, arbitrator, or as an expert witness, may reasonably be protected from notification and disclosure by legal principle or confidentiality provisions that override the public policy basis for this Professional Standard. As an example, the information an Architect receives when engaged to provide expert opinion advice may be covered by litigation privilege principles. When such unusual circumstances arise, Registrants should consult their own advisors and/or the AIBC's Practice Advisors.

In every case, the written notification (reporting) obligation can be satisfied by sending a confidential email to the attention of the Director of Professional Conduct and Illegal Practice at complaints@aibc.ca.

Schedule C: Board Code of Conduct

1.0 Background and Authority

1.1 This Board Code of Conduct (“Code of Conduct”) sets out the essential behavioural expectations and obligations that apply to all elected (Registrant) and appointed (Lay) Board Members as authorized under Bylaw 2.7. Collectively, this group is referred to in this document as “Board Members”, unless stated otherwise.

2.0 Relationship to AIBC Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct, Board Policy, and Board Rules

2.1 To the extent that Board Members are Architects or other Registrants, this Code of Conduct is complementary to the Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct (the “Code of Ethics”). The Code of Ethics focuses primarily on relations between Architects and their Clients and duties owed to the general public. If there is a relevant conflict or inconsistency between a provision of this Code of Conduct and a provision of the Code of Ethics, the Code of Ethics prevails.

3.0 Attitudes, Behaviours and Actions

3.1 Board Members have a fiduciary duty in relation to the AIBC and its public interest mandate at all times. This overarching concept requires Board Members to act honestly and in good faith; avoid and address conflicts of interest; maintain the confidentiality of information they acquire by virtue of being a Board Member; and serve the AIBC selflessly and loyally.

3.2 Board Members acknowledge that the Board speaks with a united voice. Board Members who abstain or vote against a motion must adhere to and support the decision of the majority.

3.3 Board Members agree to undertake and attend any required training, orientation, or professional development that relates to their fiduciary obligations, or to their role as governing Board of a professional regulatory body.

3.4 Board Members must:

- abide by all Board Policies governing Board Members behaviors, practices, decisions, and actions;
- behave in an honest and ethical manner, and in the best interests of the AIBC and the public it serves;
- refrain from using inappropriate language or taking inappropriate actions that could compromise the professional image, credibility or integrity of the Board, the architectural profession or the AIBC;
- demonstrate an open mind and prudent judgement in all matters under discussion and must encourage and permit full discussion of all points of view;

- be prepared and well-informed on all matters coming before the Board, notably by reviewing in advance and being prepared to discuss the Board meeting materials;
- review and become familiar with all AIBC Board Policy documents and principles;
- wherever possible, seek clarification on questions related to meeting materials prior to the meeting, to maximize the value of collective meeting times;
- not make personal use of AIBC property, including facilities, equipment, materials and supplies, unless such use is generally available to Registrants;
- not exercise authority or influence over AIBC staff, unless expressly authorized by the Board, and then only through the Registrar;
- give focus to matters of governance, including policy, strategy and oversight of the AIBC, rather than day-to-day operational matters within the purview of the Registrar and staff;
- abide by Schedule E: Board Rules for Board Meetings and by the method or process agreed to for conducting meetings;
- refrain from trying to influence other Board Members outside of Board meetings that might have the effect of creating factions and limiting free and open discussion;
- ensure that elected Board Members are and remain a Registrant in Good Standing with the AIBC;
- participate and contribute to building and maintaining a healthy, productive, and effective functioning Board, including expressing opinions in a clear and respectful manner;
- not speak or make representation on behalf of the AIBC (including on behalf of the Board) or accept or undertake any obligations unless with the express authority from the Board to do so; and
- not obtain a personal benefit from, or take personal advantage of, information obtained in their capacity unless that information is generally available to AIBC Registrants.

4.0 Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure

- 4.1 Board Members must keep confidential all discussions and information obtained in those discussions respecting circumstances involving identified individuals, sensitive AIBC negotiations or deliberations, legal issues, information related to the AIBC's finances, and any other information related to matters that have been or will be discussed in camera. Board Members must take particular care when handling material marked as being 'privileged' communication, such as legal advice to the AIBC, the Board, or the Registrar. Questions about confidentiality and privilege should be directed to the Board Chair and/or Registrar as appropriate.
- 4.2 This confidentiality obligation does not apply to the extent that disclosure:
- is required under the AIBC Code of Ethics;
 - is required for the obvious and proper processing of the matter under discussion;

- is explicitly authorized by the Board; or
 - is otherwise required by law.
- 4.3 Board Members must take all reasonable steps to ensure confidential and/or privileged material in their possession or to which they may have access is safeguarded and must promptly notify the Board Chair if they believe the material has been lost or otherwise compromised.
- 4.4 Upon the end of the term, Board Members must return to the AIBC or destroy any confidential materials including Board meeting packages, remaining in their possession.
- 4.5 The duty of confidentiality applies both during and after the Board Members' term.

5.0 Conflict of Interest Obligations

- 5.1 Board Members are subject to, must be familiar with, and must follow and comply with the conflict of interest obligations described below.
- 5.2 The purposes of the obligations and supplementary Conflict of Interest Administrative Guidelines found in Schedule D, are to ensure that Board Members are aware of situations that may create an apparent or actual conflict of interest, and how to address conflicts. Board Members have a duty to uphold the integrity of the Board's activities and decision-making processes, which includes setting aside personal self-interest and performing duties in a manner that promotes public confidence and trust in the integrity and impartiality of the Board.
- 5.3 Board Members must avoid any situations where their personal or private interests may be in conflict with the interests of the AIBC.
- 5.4 Board Members must not accept or offer a gift if that gift could be reasonably construed as being offered for the purpose of obtaining preferential treatment.
- 5.5 Board Members must not represent or appear on behalf of an outside special interest group or person at a meeting of the Board, its Advisory Groups, or similar bodies of which the individual is a member.

6.0 Disclosure and Resolution of a Conflict of Interest

Disclosure at Meeting

- 6.1 If a matter arising at a meeting of the Board or Board Advisory Group places the Board Member in an apparent or actual conflict of interest, the Board Member must promptly:
- declare the apparent or actual conflict of interest;
 - disclose the general nature of the apparent or actual conflict of interest;

- ensure that the disclosure is entered in any minutes of that meeting;
 - allow consideration by the Board as to management of the matter and, depending on the nature of the conflict of interest;
 - accept that the Board may determine that the Board Member should physically leave the relevant portion of any meeting, discussion and vote at which that matter is at issue and must not attempt in any way to influence the outcome of that particular matter.
- 6.2 In every case in which an actual conflict of interest is identified, the conflicted Board Member must take no role in relation to the matter at the meeting or at any other time while the actual conflict exists.
- 6.3 An actual conflict of interest may also trigger an investigation by the Board, and in relation to Architects and other Registrants, the matter may merit referral to the AIBC’s professional conduct process.

Disclosure in a Non-Meeting Context

- 6.4 In the event that an apparent or actual conflict of interest is identified outside of a meeting as described in paragraph 6.1 of this Code of Conduct, the Board Member identifying the conflict must promptly notify the Board Chair, in writing, or the Board Vice Chair in the event the Board Chair is the conflicted member.
- 6.5 In determining how to proceed with an apparent or actual conflict of interest in such circumstances, the Board Chair (or Board Vice Chair, if the Board Chair is the Board Member in apparent or actual conflict) must take one or both of the following steps:
- 6.5.1 Bring the matter to the next Board meeting for consideration using the sequence of events in paragraph 6.1 above (identification, minuting, Board discussion and decision).
- 6.5.2 If time is of the essence to resolve a conflict of interest, or if the nature of the conflict is beyond the scope and intent of paragraph 6.5.1, the Board Chair may convene a group consisting of the Board Chair (or Board Vice Chair), a Lay Board Member, the Registrar, and a staff lawyer who review the matter, in writing, and advise the Board Chair.
- 6.6 After taking advice on a matter under paragraph 6.5.2 above, the Board Chair or the Board Vice Chair must make a determination and convey it in writing to the Board Member identifying the conflict and any other Board Members affected by the issue. The determinations available under this paragraph are as follows:
- 6.6.1 That the disclosure be recorded as an information item in the next Board meeting minutes;

- 6.6.2 That the Board Member in apparent or actual conflict of interest not participate in any Board discussions related to the conflict, or attempt to influence the outcome of the matter; and
- 6.6.3 In the event of an actual conflict of interest, whether to trigger an investigation by the Board, and in relation to Architects and other Registrants, whether the matter merits referral to the AIBC professional conduct process.

7.0 Consequences of Non-Compliance

- 7.1 Board Members are encouraged and expected to assist their Board colleagues to understand and comply with this Code of Conduct. Minor concerns should normally be addressed by direct, respectful communication between Board Members, or by raising concerns with the Board Chair for resolution.
- 7.2 In the event of a more serious breach or ongoing non-compliance with the norms established in this Code of Conduct, the mechanism established in Section 8.0 below should be followed. This Code of Conduct establishes a progressive approach to non-compliance, from written warnings through formal censure to suspension. Removal of a Registrant Board Member or termination of the appointment of a Lay Board Member is reserved for the processes established under Section 30 of the PGA, and separate Board Rules per Bylaw 2.11.
- 7.3 While it is hoped that common sense, internal Board management and the Code of Conduct processes will address most concerns, Registrant Board Members may also be subject to a professional conduct complaint in relation to breaches of this Code of Conduct.

8.0 Process to Address a Breach of the Code of the Conduct

- 8.1 In the event that a Board Member legitimately believes that another Board Member is not conducting themselves in an appropriate manner, or consistently with the interests of the AIBC or this Code of Conduct, the issue should be directed to the Board Chair. In the event that such complaint relates to the Board Chair's behavior, the issue is to be directed to the Board Vice Chair.
- 8.2 On the occasion of a first breach, the Board Chair will review and consider the information relating to the breach and may issue a written warning to the person, identifying the code(s) breached.
- 8.3 On the occasion of a second breach, the Board Chair will review and consider the information relating to the breach and may, after giving written notice to the person, identifying the code(s) breached, move a vote of censure to be passed by two-thirds majority of Board Members present at the next Board meeting in which the call for censure is made.
- 8.4 On any subsequent similar breaches by the same person, the Board Chair may call for a vote to exclude that person from one or more Board meetings; such vote requiring a two-thirds majority of Board Members present at the meeting in which the call for exclusion is made.

- 8.5 If the named person persists with similar breaches, or if there is a continuing pattern of similar breaching even after censure and/or being excluded from a Board meeting(s), the Board Chair may call on the Board to vote to establish a review panel to investigate the matter and prepare a report on the named person's conduct.
- 8.5.1 The review panel will be comprised of three persons who do not sit on the Board (at least one of which must be a Registrant of the AIBC in Good Standing).
- 8.5.2 The report must include recommendations as to censure, further suspension, or removal of the named person (in accordance with Bylaw 2.11 and Section 30 of the Professional Governance Act.)
- 8.5.3 The report and a written reply to the report from the named person (should that person wish to submit a reply) shall be tabled at the next Board meeting at which time the Board shall decide on the disposition of the matter by two-thirds majority vote of Board Members present at that meeting.
- 8.6 The formal removal of a Registrant Board Members from office must only be undertaken pursuant to Section 30(1) and any Board Rules or procedures for such process as authorized under Bylaw 2.11. A Lay Board Member's appointment can only be terminated by the provincial government as set out in Section 30(3) of the PGA.

Schedule D: Administrative Guidelines for Board Conflict of Interest

1.0 Authority

- 1.1 These Administrative Guidelines are authorized under Bylaw 2.7 and apply to all elected (Registrant) and appointed (Lay) Board Members. Collectively, this group is referred to in this document as “Board Members”, unless stated otherwise. These guidelines supplement the conflict of interest obligations portion in the Board Code of Conduct.

2.0 Scope of Conflict of Interest

- 2.1 As a general statement, a conflict of interest arises when a personal interest is sufficiently connected with a public or professional duty that it is in actual conflict, or results in a reasonable perception on the part of a well-informed, reasonable person, that the personal interest may influence the exercise of a public or professional responsibility. Conflicts – actual or apparent – can also arise for Board Members who may serve on two or more organizations that may have adverse interests.
- 2.2 It is important to note that apparent conflicts of interest are normal occurrences in governance, particularly when accomplished, active professionals and other volunteers are engaged. Identifying a conflict of interest should not be seen negatively. It is the avoidance of actual conflicts of interest, the identification of apparent conflicts, and the proper handling of any kind of conflict of interest, that helps maintain good governance and the profession’s and public’s faith in self-regulation of the architectural profession.

Apparent Conflict

- 2.3 Board Member are in an apparent conflict of interest if a well-informed person could reasonably perceive that the Board Member’s opportunity for personal advantage or benefit could influence the way the Board Member carries out their functions on behalf of the AIBC, including how that Board Member may make a decision or cast a vote. Apparent conflicts of interest are sometimes referred to as ‘perceived’ or ‘potential’ conflicts of interest.¹

Actual Conflict

- 2.4 Board Members are in an actual conflict of interest if the Board Member uses the opportunity for personal advantage or benefit to influence the way the Board Member carries out his or her functions on behalf of the AIBC.

¹ There is a technical distinction between these variations of apparent conflicts. However, all apparent conflicts rest on the foundation of ‘appearance’, to an objective outside party.

Interpretation

- 2.5 For the purposes of paragraphs 2.3 and 2.4 in this Guideline, a personal advantage or benefit includes a direct personal advantage or benefit to the Board Member or an indirect personal advantage or benefit to the Board Member arising out of their relationship with a relative, close friend or business associate.

3.0 Examples of Prohibited Activities

- 3.1 The following are examples of activities that would be conflicts of interest:
- Board Member using their position to influence a decision of the AIBC to enter into a business relationship that would provide the Board Member with a personal advantage or benefit.
 - Board Members entering into a business relationship with the AIBC, including employment with the AIBC, unless the opportunity to enter into that relationship has first been made available generally to Registrants with the required skills to provide that service in the intended location.
 - Board Members obtaining a personal benefit or advantage from a business relationship between the AIBC and a third party, unless that benefit or advantage is available generally to Registrants.

Gifts

- 3.2 For purposes of this provision, a gift means any gift, entertainment, hospitality or benefit of sufficient value that a reasonable business person would consider it to be beyond the normal exchange of customary courtesy.
- 3.3 To provide clarity and practical guidance, the following examples of gift-giving are either not of “sufficient value” to be restricted by this policy, or are considered as the “normal exchange of customary courtesy”:
- 3.3.1 Gifts or personal benefit received incidentally as part of protocol or social obligations related to holding Board office/representing the AIBC;
 - 3.3.2 Gifts or personal benefits of a nominal value of less than $25; and
 - 3.3.3 Gifts provided as part of the normal exchange between friends, co-workers and family.

Conflict of Interest Advice

- 3.4 Conflict of interest scenarios can be complicated or unclear, and Board Members may require advice to determine whether a conflict of interest has arisen or may arise, before making disclosure as required in this Guideline. Board Members unsure of their obligations under these Guidelines should contact the Board Chair or Board Vice Chair, in writing, for assistance.

4.0 Exceptions

4.1 Board Members will not be considered to be in an actual conflict of interest if:

- the personal advantage or benefit to the Board Member was merely incidental to their function as a Board Member;
- the Board Member was only one individual in a broad class of individuals who would have the opportunity to enjoy a similar personal advantage or benefit; or,
- the personal advantage or benefit to the Board Member is trivial or insignificant.

Schedule E: Board Rules for Board Meetings

1.0 Authority

- 1.1 These Board Rules describe the specific requirements for procedural matters related to Board meetings as authorized under Bylaw 2.43.
- 1.2 These Rules also describe the specific requirements for procedural matters related to Board electronic voting on resolutions as authorized under Bylaw 2.43. The Rules are intended to allow for efficient management of Board business that can be conducted electronically.
- 1.3 Each Board Member is equally entitled to be recognized by the chair, and to vote (except in the case of the Immediate Past Board Chair).

2.0 Board Meeting Procedures

Development of the Board's Meeting Agenda

- 2.1 Wherever possible and practical to do so, new substantive policy items should first be tabled at a Board meeting (whether a formal Board meeting or a planning session) for initial discussion with the Board before being tabled at a later meeting for formal adoption.
- 2.2 The Board may seek the Governance Advisory Group's assistance in the development and management of its agenda.
- 2.3 A Board Member who wishes to have a matter placed on the agenda must, wherever possible and practical to do so, produce a submission in writing (using the format approved by the Board) outlining the item and a short rationale for that item along with all necessary supporting materials. The submission must be provided to the Registrar for submission to the Governance Advisory Group prior to the next scheduled Board meeting. The Governance Advisory Group will review the submission and schedule the item, if appropriate, for the next or following Board meeting agenda.

Board Meeting Agenda Order of Business

- 2.4 The order of business will be drafted by the Governance Advisory Group and approved or modified by the Board at the time the agenda is formally approved by the Board.

For the handling of routine agenda items that the Board needs to receive or approve and have noted in the meeting minutes as a matter of protocol, a consent agenda format will be used. A Board Member is permitted to request that any item(s) on the consent agenda be removed. In such case, the item(s) in question must be removed, regardless of the reason for the request. When a Board Member requests removal of an item from the consent agenda, the Board Chair (as meeting chair) can decide to move the item to another part of the agenda or make the decision to discuss it right away.

Role of Chair

- 2.5 The Board Chair chairs the Board meetings in accordance with Bylaw 2.20. The role of the chair is to ensure that the meeting is run fairly and efficiently.
- 2.6 All discussion in Board meetings, including the order of speakers, must be managed by the chair. Meeting attendees, whether Board Members, the Registrar, or invited guests should be provided adequate time to speak to and discuss agenda items, while respecting the allotted meeting duration.
- 2.7 Either in preparation of the agenda, or during the meeting, the chair may rule on whether any item before the Board is properly submitted and is otherwise in order. When the chair rules an item out of order, they must give reasons for so doing (in writing, in the case of an item ruled out of order prior to the day of the meeting). The ruling is subject to appeal by a majority vote.

Order

- 2.8 All Board Members are responsible for ensuring that these Rules are respected and upheld, although the Board may vary from these Rules by unanimous consent. Board Members may raise an objection to the attention of the chair as soon as they become aware of a breach of these Rules. The chair then hears the objection and makes a ruling. The ruling is appealable in the same way as for Rule 2.7 above.

Making and Recording Decisions

- 2.9 To be considered for deliberation by the Board, a motion requires both a mover and a seconder.
- 2.10 Following discussion of any agenda item requiring a vote by the Board, and before putting a matter to a vote, the chair may take a poll of Board Members to obtain a sense of whether a matter is ready for decision.
- 2.11 Before putting a matter to a vote, the chair should ask if there is any further discussion.
- 2.12 To induce an end to debate, any Board Member may move to call the previous question. A two-thirds majority is required on the decision to call or 'force' a vote on the previous question.
- 2.13 A Board Member may abstain from voting and in so doing shows neither opposition nor support. However, an abstention from voting does not change the voting requirements for approval of a motion under Bylaw 2.34, which requires that all acts of the Board be decided by a majority of Board Members present.
- 2.14 A Board Member may request that a decision be revisited by the Board at a later meeting by providing pertinent facts and information that were not taken into consideration by the Board in making the original decision. Such request must follow the usual procedures for placing an item on a Board meeting agenda.

- 2.15 Minutes will be taken for all regular meetings and approved by the Board and Published, subsequent to the meeting, as per Bylaw 2.44. Minutes are not verbatim transcripts; minutes record motions and points of order made by the Board, whether they were carried or defeated, and only when specifically requested at the time, any votes opposing or supporting such motions and abstentions. While it is not standard practice, a Board Member may specifically request that their voting choice be recorded in the minutes. Such a request must be made immediately after the Board Member votes on a motion. Reasons for opposing or supporting such motions and abstentions will not be recorded.

Delegations

- 2.16 Delegations, including an individual, may apply to be put on the agenda, in writing, at least 21 days in advance of the meeting. Such application must identify the person(s) in the delegation wishing to speak to the Board and must contain a synopsis of the presentation to be made to the Board. The chair has discretion, in circumstances of urgency or other public interest reasons, to permit a delegation to attend with fewer than 21 days' application, which decision must also be approved by the Board at the meeting the delegation attends.
- 2.17 Meeting observers, such as the general public and other Registrants, are not considered to be meeting attendees, invited guests, or delegations. If the observers wish to address the meeting they must apply to be considered a delegation under Rule 2.16.
- 2.18 The Board may schedule up to 15 minutes within a Board meeting for presentation(s) by one or more delegation. The time limit for a delegation may be extended by Board consent.

In camera meetings

- 2.19 Duly constituted Board meetings are open to the public as required under Bylaw 2.37. The Board must strive to ensure that its discussions and votes are, wherever possible, conducted in an open meeting.
- 2.20 Notwithstanding the baseline public meeting expectation, the Board may exclude any person who is not a Board Member from any part of a meeting and proceed to an in camera session upon motion and vote, if it is satisfied that a matter of confidentiality requires in camera deliberation.²

² The Board should ensure that appropriate consideration is given to moving an issue in camera, including principles found in privacy legislation and transparency expectations. The Board is reminded that the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) or designate must attend Board meetings as a matter of best governance practice and through bylaw effect. Such individual should only be excluded from an in camera meeting where the CEO's performance, salary, or similar confidential governance issues arise.

- 2.21 Minutes are not taken during an in camera session, although the formal Board minutes must indicate that the Board went into an in camera session.
- 2.22 Discussions during the in camera session are confidential and Board Members are reminded that they are also bound by the Board Code of Conduct in Schedule C.
- 2.23 A motion, second and vote to go back to a public meeting must be made in order to leave an in camera session, with such return to be recorded on the formal Board minutes.
- 2.24 Any motions arising from the in camera session should be brought ex camera and voted upon in the normal course of the public meeting. Where such motions must remain confidential and/or privileged, the recording secretary should be invited to return to the meeting to record the decision(s) for the minutes, and the item should be included in a confidential addendum to the minutes and brought to the next Board meeting for approval.

3.0 Conduct

- 3.1 Board Members must comply with the Board Code of Conduct (“Code of Conduct”), with the oath of office (Section 28 of the PGA), and with these Rules at all times. Board Members are reminded of the duties in the Code of Conduct with respect to honesty, impartiality, confidentiality, inappropriate language/actions, limits on authority, conflict of interest, use of AIBC property, respecting AIBC staff, maintaining an open mind, and regular attendance.
- 3.2 These Rules do not abridge or diminish the duties, obligations and expectations found in the PGA, its regulations, the Code of Conduct or oath of office but are instead intended to reinforce and supplement them.
- 3.3 Once the Board has passed a motion or otherwise made a decision, all Board Members must work together to implement that decision, in keeping with good governance practices and the Board Members’ fiduciary duties of acting with honesty, in good faith and with care, diligence and skill. No Board Member is permitted to undermine a Board decision or make efforts to delay, hinder or otherwise work against the implementation of such decision.
- 3.4 Requests for staff action or information must go through the Board Chair or Registrar. This does not preclude a working relationship between Board Members and staff members who are co-operating on a specific project or committee.

4.0 Process to Address a Breach of the Rules

- 4.1 In the event that a Board Member or invited guest legitimately believes that another Board Member is not conducting themselves in an appropriate manner, or consistently with the interests of the AIBC and these Rules, the issue should be directed to the Board Chair. In the event that such complaint relates to the Board Chair’s behavior, the issue is to be directed to the Board Vice Chair. Appropriate behavior for Board Members includes complying with fundamental duties at all times, whether during Board meetings or otherwise. Deliberate misstatements of fact and unfounded opinions about AIBC matters, in whatever medium, must be avoided.

- 4.2 On the occasion of a first breach, the meeting chair may call that person to order, name the person in breach, and identify the Rule(s) breached, as a warning.
- 4.3 On the occasion of a second breach, the meeting chair may again call that person to order, name that person, identify the Rule(s) breached, and may call for a vote of censure to be passed by a two-thirds majority of Board Members present at the meeting in which the call for censure is made.
- 4.4 On any subsequent similar breaches by the same person the meeting chair may call for a vote to exclude that person from one or more Board meetings; such vote requiring a two-thirds majority of Board Members present at the meeting in which the call for exclusion is made.
- 4.5 If the named person persists with similar breaches, or if there is a continuing pattern of similar breaching even after being excluded from a Board meeting(s), the meeting chair will escalate the matter to the Board Chair for consideration under Rule 8.5 of the Board Code of Conduct. Formal removal of a Registrant Board Member from office can only be undertaken pursuant to Section 30(1) of the PGA and any Rules or procedures supporting that process established by the Board. A Lay Board Member's appointment can only be terminated by the provincial government per Section 30(3) of the PGA.

5.0 Videoconference Attendance and Voting

- 5.1 As per Bylaw 2.33, Board meeting attendance by teleconference or by videoconference is permissible in order to facilitate meeting attendance.
- 5.2 Board Members attending by teleconference or videoconference are considered present and in attendance at the meeting with full voting and participation rights.
- 5.3 The Board may establish meeting procedures and protocols related to meetings held by videoconference to facilitate the meeting agenda, Board Member participation including discussion and voting, and presentation of meeting materials. The procedures may include methods of seeking recognition and obtaining the floor and seeking and verifying a vote (such as requesting verbal confirmation – in favour, opposed, or abstaining), as well as protocols for audio/video, and as related to videoconference features such as 'chat', 'waiting rooms', meeting security, and hosting duties.

6.0 Electronic Board Resolutions

- 6.1 Upon determination that a matter be directed to the Board as an Electronic Board Resolution, the Registrar or designate must cause that matter for which a Board vote is required to be transmitted to the Board through an electronic format.

Voting for Electronic Board Resolutions

- 6.2 The Electronic Board Resolution must contain information identifying:
 - (a) the subject matter and the fact that it is an electronic ballot;
 - (b) the date and time by which return ballots must be received (a voting period of no less than two business days must be provided unless the Board Chair determines a shorter period); and
 - (c) instruction by which each Board Member can clearly express their decision (in favour/opposed, yes/no, choice amongst list of specific items, etc.).
- 6.3 Each Board Member must indicate their choice on the ballot and transmit the completed ballot to the AIBC staff sender of the electronic ballot.
- 6.4 This Rule may be modified in cases where a specialized electronic balloting system is used so long as that system can clearly identify the identity of the Board Member balloting and record their choice, the results of which can be reported to the Board.
- 6.5 The date and “time stamp” of the electronic ballot as received on the AIBC e-mail servers shall be the authoritative date and time of receipt.
- 6.6 All ballots not returned on or before the deadline (date and time) will be considered spoiled and must not be counted.
- 6.7 To be carried, any item up for electronic vote requires a majority of Board Members participating (whether voting in the affirmative, negative or abstaining), and a simple majority of affirming votes from those who cast a vote.
- 6.8 Board Members’ individual voting choices will not be shared with the rest of the Board during the voting period. The Registrar or designate must report the electronic vote tally to the Board in a timely manner following the close of the voting period.
- 6.9 If, during the voting period, substantive questions arise that, in the opinion of the Board Chair, call into question whether that matter should be dealt with as an Electronic Board Resolution item, they may instruct the Registrar or designate to remove that item from consideration for electronic vote and request to table the matter at the next Board meeting.
- 6.10 Any Board Member may request to the Board Chair that an Electronic Board Resolution be removed from electronic vote before the close of the vote period, for deliberation at the next Board meeting.

7.0 Administration of the Board Meeting Rules

- 7.1 If it happens that there is a recurring problem or inefficiency under these Rules, the Board may consider whether a new Rule, sub-Rule or language within an existing Rule needs to be created.
- 7.2 The Registrar is instructed to update and Publish the Rules, under the Board's direction and in compliance with Bylaw 2.5.
- 7.3 No Board decision or action shall fail due to a technical breach of these Rules, and no technical objections shall be entertained unless serious issues of fairness or due process that would call into question the reputation or credibility of the AIBC can be objectively demonstrated.

Schedule F: Board Rules for Board Election

1.0 Authority

- 1.1 These Board Rules describe the specific requirements for procedural matters related to the Board and Board officer elections as authorized under Bylaw 2.59.

2.0 Electronic Voting for Board Elections

Voting Access

- 2.1 Notification of a Board election vote will be provided to Eligible Voters by email (“Vote Notification”) in accordance with Bylaw 2.64.
- 2.2 The names of the Board nominees will be listed in random order on the ballot. The procedure for determining the random order is as follows:
 - The Returning Officer will write the name of each nominee on a separate and similar piece of paper.
 - Each piece of paper will be folded and placed in a container.
 - The Returning Officer will draw each piece of paper from the container.
 - The order of the names drawn will form the order of the names on the ballot from first to last.

Electronic Voting Confidentiality and Security

- 2.3 The electronic voting platform selected for the Board election must include industry-standard confidentiality and data management protections to ensure that Eligible Voters’ choices remain confidential and anonymous and that the AIBC retains control of Voting Data at all times. All Voting Data must remain in Canada at all times.
- 2.4 Voting Data related to an electronic vote for Board election must be retained securely and confidentially throughout the election dispute period indicated in section 4.0 of these Rules, and for as long as necessary thereafter, including as may be required by law, in the event that a petition for questioning the election is duly filed. All Voting Data related to an electronic vote for a Board election must be deleted from service provider and the AIBC servers or other storage media within 48 hours of the statutory election dispute period lapsing or longer as otherwise may be required by law.
- 2.5 The AIBC must take reasonable steps to ensure that the electronic voting platform incorporate the following access, security and integrity protections at or exceeding industry standard to address concerns related to electoral fraud, breach of secrecy and error:
 - Eligible Voter authentication;

- Voter and voter choice anonymity;
 - One vote per eligible voter confirmation;
 - Ballot validity authentication;
 - Ballot vote receipt for individual voters;
 - Data encryption for all voting transactions;
 - Server and firewall protection;
 - Data redundancy measures; and
 - Mobile device and cross-browser compatibility.
- 2.6 The electronic voting process will remain as accessible as reasonably and technically possible to Eligible Voters throughout the voting period. The voting process will include reasonable assistive technologies and information to allow eligible voters with disabilities to participate.

Schedule G: Administrative Guidelines for Conditional Registration

1.0 Background and Authority

- 1.1 These Administrative Guidelines are authorized under Bylaw 4.1. They guide and establish boundaries for the Credentials Committee’s discretion whether to place certain conditions or limitations (together, “Condition” or “Conditions”) on the enrolment, admission, and reinstatement of AIBC Registrants. Such Conditions are intended to be focused on the ongoing ability of Registrants to carry out their professional obligations, where the AIBC is aware of concerns in relation to that ability. They are not intended to limit a Registrant’s range or scope of practice, where such Registrant is entitled to practice the profession of architecture.
- 1.2 As with all core regulatory decisions made by the AIBC, the principle underlying any decision to impose a Condition on registration is the protection of the public.
- 1.3 While public protection is paramount, a decision to impose a Condition on registration must be supported by reasonable evidence and appropriately and fairly limited in scope and duration.
- 1.4 The Credentials Committee must not impose any Condition that limits the range, scope or nature of services within the Regulated or Reserved Practice that a Registrant is allowed to provide. For greater clarity, no Condition on registration may be imposed in relation to the building type or size, professional judgment, or instruments of service of a Registrant.

2.0 Conditions and Limitations on Individual Registrants

- 2.1 Subject to paragraph 1.4 in this Schedule, the Credentials Committee is authorized to impose one or more Conditions on an Individual Registrant’s registration where, in the Committee’s opinion, sufficient grounds exist:
 - to indicate the Applicant’s health, including physical and mental health and addiction, may adversely affect the Applicant’s ability to maintain Professional Standards; or
 - of a demonstrated history or pattern of behaviour, including but not limited to known Discipline Violations, that may adversely affect the Applicant’s ability to maintain Professional Standards.

3.0 Conditions and Limitations on Firm Registrants

- 3.1 Subject to paragraph 1.4 in this Schedule, the Credentials Committee is authorized to impose one or more Conditions on a Firm Registrant’s registration where, in the Committee’s opinion, sufficient grounds exist to indicate the Applicant Firm may require monitoring or the provision of documentation or reports to satisfy the Committee that the Firm can maintain its Firm Registrant obligations, including Professional Standards.

4.0 Condition Examples

Individual Registrant Conditions

- 4.1 Without limiting the ability of the Credentials Committee to determine an appropriate, calibrated Condition for an Individual Registrant, the following general Conditions are permitted:
- Requirements to provide documentation or reports to the Committee from a health care professional in relation to the Registrant's ability to maintain Professional Standards; and
 - Requirements to attend one or more interviews with the Committee or Panel of the Committee to satisfy the Committee that the Registrant is complying with the Condition(s) and is otherwise maintaining Professional Standards.

Firm Registrant Conditions

- 4.2 Without limiting the ability of the Credentials Committee to determine an appropriate, calibrated Condition for a Firm Registrant, the following general Conditions are permitted:
- Requirements to provide documentation or reports to the Committee in relation to any Professional Standard or Registrant Firm obligation, including those related to Firm structure and ownership, professional liability insurance and Firm Continuing Education.
 - Requirements to attend one or more interviews with the Committee or Panel of the Committee to satisfy the Committee that the Registrant is complying with the Condition(s) and is otherwise maintaining Firm Registrant obligations, including Professional Standards.

5.0 Varying and Removing Conditions and Non-Compliance with Conditions

- 5.1 The Committee must remove any Condition that it deems satisfied or is no longer required for the protection of the public.
- 5.2 The Committee may vary any Condition with the written consent of the Registrant if the Committee deems such variance is appropriate and consistent with protection of the public.
- 5.3 The Committee must notify the Registrant of any removal or variance of a Condition and direct the Registrar to update the register as applicable.
- 5.4 In the event the Committee is satisfied that any Condition imposed by the Committee has not been maintained or satisfied by the Registrant, the Committee is authorized to cancel the Registrant's registration.

6.0 Review on the Record of Condition and Limitation Decisions

- 6.1 Consistent with Bylaw 4.4, an Applicant (including a Registrant with Conditions on registration) may make a written request for a Review on the Record. There is no right of review for a decision to vary a Condition to which the Applicant/Registrant consented (see paragraph 5.2 in this Schedule).

7.0 Confidentiality and Publication

- 7.1 Consistent with the PGA and AIBC Bylaws, any Condition(s) on a Registrant's Regulated Practice must be included in the register. However, the General Regulation and Bylaw 8.27 provide direction to the Registrar to consider information disclosure in light of general privacy interests of any complainant or other party, or in the case of Registrants, privacy interests specific to physical or mental ailment, emotional disturbance or addiction to alcohol or drugs.

Medical Disability	Full waiver	Out of the work force due to a diagnosis of medical disability. No annual income.

2.0 Introduction

- 2.1 Application may be made annually for any combination of the three types of waivers. However, applicants will only be eligible for waivers for a total of two years out of every 10 years, regardless of the type or combination of types for which application is made. Applications for a third year may be considered if exceptional circumstances apply, and the application is for a non-consecutive year and for a different type of waiver.
- 2.2 Mandatory Continuing Education System (CES) requirements continue to apply to Architects, Architectural Technologists, and Intern Architects as CES Participants, whose fees have been waived in full or part. Individuals may contact the Professional Services department to apply for a reduction in AIBC course fees.
- 2.3 Fee waivers are applicable only to annual Fees, both for initial registration (see paragraph 3.2 of this Schedule) or renewal of registration. Waivers are not applicable to application Fees. The waiver applies only to annual Fees for each year ending December 31. Requests for retroactive application to Fees of prior years will not be considered.

3.0 General Process

- 3.1 Waiver applications must be submitted using the required Form and must be received by the AIBC by January 15 of each year. Any Forms received after this date will not be considered. - 3.2 Intern Architects who have completed their Internship in Architecture Program (IAP) and who are applying to register as Architects are eligible to apply for a waiver of their initial annual Fee, as long as they also satisfy all other requirements of the waiver category for which they are applying. They must submit their waiver application together with their application for registration. There will be no retroactive application of this waiver once the initial annual Fee has been processed. Intern Architects who have previously been granted a waiver may apply for a waiver of their annual Fee as Architects by submitting a new waiver application. In this situation, a new waiver is subject to review and approval process and will count towards the maximum of two waivers within a 10-year period. There is no automatic application of a previously approved waiver to the new annual Fee.
- 3.3 All applications will be considered on a strictly confidential basis. If an application is denied, the applicant will be notified by email, to the address identified for correspondence, and advised a date to pay the outstanding Fees. The AIBC is a local public body under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, and will process and store personal information in the waiver process as required by law.
- 3.4 The AIBC may request further information or process a credit check at any time in order to verify the information contained in the application. Additional information may include relevant income tax returns as well as financial statements of any business of which the applicant is a full or part owner. The applicable accounting period is the calendar year regardless of the applicant's year end selected for business purposes.
- 3.5 If it is determined that a Fee waiver should not have been granted based on the actual income, parental or family situation, financial or medical condition, the Fee waiver will be rescinded, the recipient will be notified, and invoiced for the annual Fees owing at the time.
- 3.6 The waiver will be applied for the whole registration year ending December 31 even if the Registrant's personal or financial situation changes during the year.
- 3.7 Architects who are Sole Proprietors or sole owners/shareholders and hold a Certificate of Practice (CoP) may request on their application to also have their annual Firm Fees considered. To clarify, this paragraph applies to Sole Proprietors of a Firm with a Certificate of Practice or sole owners of a corporation with a Certificate of Practice.

4.0 Waiver of Annual Fees Due to Financial Hardship

- 4.1 The Board will annually establish the income threshold for projected gross income for the year. The threshold is based on the low-income cut-off before tax, adjusted annually by the consumer price index, as published by Statistics Canada.
- 4.2 Registrants may submit a waiver of their annual Fee if their projected annual gross falls below the income threshold established by the Board. Income received from employment insurance, disability, pension, or other government issued benefits are not included in this income consideration. All other sources of income are to be considered.

5.0 Reduction of Annual Fees for Parental or Family Leave

- 5.1 Architects may apply for a partial waiver in the amount of 70% of their annual Fees of the current Fee per year, and Architectural Technologists, Intern Architects and Retired Architects may apply for a full waiver of their annual Fee, if both of the following criteria are met:
 - the Registrant is out of the work force on parental leave or caring for a family member; and
 - the Registrant's projected income is no more than 10 times the amount of the applicant's current annual renewal Fee. Income received from employment insurance, disability, pension, or other government issued benefits are not included in this income consideration. All other sources of income are to be considered.
- 5.2 The waiver will be applied for the whole registration year ending December 31 even if the Registrant's return to work and earn gross income from employment or self-employment in excess of the maximum allowable amount for the leave period.

6.0 Waiver of Annual Fees Due to Medical Disability

- 6.1 Registrants may apply for a waiver if they suffer from a diagnosed medical disability and are out of the work force, for a period of time anticipated to continue throughout the period ending December 31 and which prevents the Registrant from earning employment income. The income threshold established by the Board for consideration under financial hardship does not apply to medical disability.
- 6.2 Applicants are required to provide a physician's letter confirming the applicant has a diagnosed medical disability and is unable to sustain employment due to illness. The letter should state the condition and the anticipated treatment or recovery time. This documentation must be received in order to have the application considered.

7.0 Recognition of Long-Standing Registration

- 7.1 Retired Architects whose program eligibility is confirmed by the Registration and Licensing department as part of the annual Fee renewal process, will have their renewal waived on an annual basis. For more information on this program, please visit the AIBC website:

Schedule O: Board Rules for Architectural Firm Names

1.0 Background and Authority

- 1.1 The name of each Firm Registrant must be approved by the Credentials Committee, which must consider Bylaws 4.69-4.73 and these Rules in making its decisions.

2.0 Firm Requirements

- 2.1 A Firm Registrant is only permitted to offer and/or to provide professional services under the Certificate of Practice of its approved name.
- 2.2 The Credentials Committee delegates to the Registrar, any Deputy Registrar or designate the review and approval of architectural Firm name applications. Should a proposed Firm name set a precedent, raise a new issue or be otherwise unconventional, that name can be brought by another decision-maker to the Credentials Committee, for a decision.
- 2.3 The following Rules deal with aspects of architectural Firm name description, identity, components, and representation.
- 2.4 Architectural Firms wishing to revise their Firm name must apply to the AIBC using the approved Form. Architectural Firms may not use the revised name until approved by the AIBC.

3.0 Description

- 3.1 The Firm Registrant's name must comply with the following description requirements:
 - 3.1.1 The Firm name must include the word 'architect' or an acceptable derivative word (e.g., architects, architecture or architectural).
 - 3.1.2 The exception to the description Rule above is where a Registrant Firm practising both architecture and engineering is registered as permitted by Bylaws 4.56-4.58. If the architectural and engineering Firm chooses not to use the word 'architect' in its name, then any representations made by the Firm to the public (websites, cards, letterhead, marketing material) must include a statement of the Firm's right to practice architecture. For example 'Holder of Certificate of Practice, Architectural Institute of British Columbia.'
 - 3.1.3 Any Architectural Firm that is a corporation must use as part of and at the end of its name, the corporate designation "Limited", "Limitee", "Incorporated", "Incorporee" or "Corporation", and may use in the Firm name the abbreviations of these words "Ltd.", "Ltee.", "Inc." or "Corp." respectively, as permitted by Bylaw 4.69.
 - 3.1.4 The Firm name may include words which denote plurality, provided that for 'architects' or 'associates' to appear in the name of the Firm, there must be at least two Architect-owners, or at least one full-time Architect-employee of the Firm in addition to a single Architect-owner.

- 3.1.5 To include the word ‘group’ in the name of a Firm, there must be at least two Architect-owners (partners or shareholders), or at least one Architect-owner and at least two other owners, or full-time employees who are Professional Engineers registered with EGBC.
- 3.1.6 The Firm may use ‘descriptor’ words in its name other than those indicated above, provided that:
- the descriptor refers only to Firm type: Sole Proprietor, partnership, or corporation; and/or
 - composition: professional categories: Architects, Architects and Professional Engineers.

4.0 Identity

- 4.1 In order to present its identity clearly; while ensuring that the public is not misled and the profession is represented with dignity, the Firm name must not:
- be identical or similar to that of an existing Firm name;
 - be a “numbered company” name;
 - be scandalous, obscene or immoral;
 - be self-laudatory;
 - imply geographic exclusivity by use of a BC regional or municipal name;
 - contain words in a language other than English or French; or
 - be otherwise misleading.
- 4.2 The Firm name is permitted to include the personal name(s) of one or more of:
- Architects who are its owners (in a Sole Proprietorship or partnership) or shareholders (in an Architectural Corporation); and
 - Professional Engineers of the EGBC who are shareholders in an Architectural-Engineering Corporation.
- 4.3 The Firm name is permitted to include (in legacy) the personal name of a former Architect (Sole Proprietor or partner) or shareholder of an Architectural Corporation who is or was a Registrant of the AIBC (or of EGBC, for Architectural-Engineering Corporations) provided that:
- the former Architect or shareholder’s identity only appears in the name(s) of Firms that has been registered with the AIBC for at least two years immediately prior to the application for legacy name;

- the estate (if deceased) has granted permission for their name to be retained by the Firm;
- the Former Registrant ceased registration in Good Standing; and
- the Former Registrant was not active in another architectural Firm when the name was approved.

4.4 An acronym or a catch-phrase in the Firm name is permitted if it can be demonstrated that the name otherwise conforms to these Bylaws and Rules.

5.0 Name Components

5.1 In assessing proposed Firm names, the AIBC will use the following guidelines for approval consistent with principles for business name assessments in British Columbia. Firm names must also meet the requirements of the BC Registry Services, unless specific requirements are included in these Bylaws and Rules, and would take precedence over other requirements.

5.2 Proposed Firm names will be analyzed according to their constituent components. The form of name acceptable consists of a distinctive element, followed by a descriptive element per paragraph 3.1.1 of these Rules, and ending with a corporate designation (if applicable) or partnership reference.

5.3 The distinctive element serves to differentiate names having identical or similar descriptive elements, and for that reason, is the most important element to be critically examined in the name. Names that lack an appropriate distinctive element could be rejected for that reason. They may be acceptable, if prefixed with an additional distinctive element (e.g., coined word or personal name) that would distinguish them from other Firm names.

5.4 The use of initials as a distinctive element is acceptable provided that the initials will not be confusing, misleading or similar to any other Firm name.

6.0 Representation

6.1 Registrant Firms must use their Firm name as approved on all written and electronic instruments of service and public representations, including drawing title-blocks, correspondence, websites, magazine articles, awards submissions, documentation, site signs, and e-mail signatures.

The use of a 'business name' or 'trade name', often referred to as 'doing business as' or 'dba' is common in the commercial world. Registering a 'dba' is permitted, along with the formal sole proprietorship, partnership or corporate name, with the BC Corporate Registry. Use of a trade name or 'dba' is permitted where the likelihood of confusion is low and only in the following circumstances:

- 6.1.1 the 'dba' name has been registered with the BC Corporate Registry;
- 6.1.2 the 'dba' name is not used on any formal representations to the public, including web sites and marketing materials, unless in clear conjunction with the approved firm name;
- 6.1.3 the 'dba' closely resembles the approved Firm name, such as its shortened form; and
- 6.1.4 the 'dba' name is not used on instruments of service, contracts, and other documentation or other formal or legal representations of architectural qualifications.

Schedule P: Board Rules for the Continuing Education System (CES)

1.0 Background and Authority

- 1.1 These Board Rules describe the specific compliance and administration requirements for the AIBC Continuing Education System (CES) as authorized under Bylaw 5.10.

2.0 Continuing Education System Participant Compliance Requirements

- 2.1 To be considered compliant at the end of each CES Reporting Period, CES Participants must, by the deadline of each CES Reporting Period:
 - 2.1.1 earn and report the required minimum number of Core and Non-Core LUs;
 - 2.1.2 earn and report all LUs in the CES Reporting Period in which they are earned;
 - 2.1.3 earn and report the mandatory Indigenous Peoples Learning Core LUs; and
 - 2.1.4 submit a Declaration of Out-of-Province CES Compliance through the electronic Registrant portal if reporting compliance with the AIBC's CES requirements by means of reciprocity.
- 2.2 Registrants who are not CES Participants are exempt from compliance with CES requirements.

3.0 Earning and Reporting Learning Units

- 3.1 CES Reporting Period is defined in the Bylaws to mean the two-year period ending on June 30 of every even year and commencing on July 1 for the next two-year period.
- 3.2 Learning Units (LUs) are the means by which CES credits are measured and recorded. One LU is one hour (60 minutes) of eligible educational activity (e.g., a three-hour session earns three LUs). The minimum allowable portion of an LU that can be reported is one-half (0.5) LU.
- 3.3 To be eligible for learning units, educational activities must have defined learning objectives. They must be planned, educational, yield new knowledge for the CES Participant and be relevant to the field of architecture. Activities carried out during the normal practice of one's work or profession by CES Participants do not qualify for LUs. For more information see the Continuing Education System Practice Guideline.
- 3.4 LUs, including excess LUs, must be reported in the CES Reporting Period in which they are earned. Reporting of LUs which were earned in prior CES Reporting Periods is not accepted. LUs will be credited to the current CES Reporting Period, except where a CES Participant was LU deficient for a past CES Reporting Period. In such case, LUs will be credited to that past CES Reporting Period first, until compliance is achieved.

CES Participants Registered During a Reporting Period

- 3.5 CES Participants registered with the AIBC during the first year of a CES Reporting Period are required to become CES compliant by earning and reporting a minimum of 18 LUs, of which a minimum of eight must be Core LUs by the end of the current CES Reporting Period.
- 3.6 CES Participants registered with the AIBC during the second year of a CES Reporting Period are required to become CES compliant by earning and reporting a minimum of 36 LUs, of which a minimum of 16 must be Core LUs by the end of the following CES Reporting Period.

Mandatory Indigenous Peoples Learning

- 3.7 A minimum of two Core LUs related to knowledge on Indigenous history, reconciliation, and/or engagement (Indigenous Peoples Learning in these Rules) must be earned and reported each CES Reporting Period, beginning in the 2022-2024 CES Reporting Period. For this learning to be considered Core, it must be a structured activity.

Carry-Forward of Learning Units

- 3.8 Up to a maximum of eight Core LUs in total may be carried forward. LUs in excess of the maximum eight Core carried forward will be deemed to have “expired.” Non-core LUs are not eligible to be carried forward.
- 3.9 The mandatory LUs for Indigenous Peoples Learning cannot be carried forward. They must be earned and reported each CES Reporting Period.

Backdating of Learning Units

- 3.10 Newly registered CES Participants can begin earning and reports LUs as of their date of registration with the AIBC. LUs earned prior to a Registrant’s date of registration as a CES Participant are not eligible to be reported.
- 3.11 Backdating of LUs is permitted only for CES Participants who are:
 - 3.11.1 CES non-compliant. Activities completed during a suspension/cancellation or while not registered with the AIBC are eligible as long as the activity completion is within the reporting period in which the CES Participant was CES non-compliant and up to the date of applying for reinstatement; or
 - 3.11.2 reinstating within one year. Activities completed while suspended, cancelled, or not registered with the AIBC are eligible for fulfilling outstanding CES requirements.

Self-Reports

- 3.12 In order for a self-reported activity to be evaluated for LUs, CES Participants must complete all fields on the self-report form including the specific activity's title, the provider's name, and detailed learning objectives, by the CES Reporting Period deadline.
- 3.13 CES Participants must retain documentation to support self-reported activities for one year after the closing of a CES Reporting Period in which the LUs were earned.
- 3.14 All self-reported activities are subject to review and approval. At any time, upon review, LUs may be removed from a CES Participant's transcript due to insufficient information or be recategorized due to incorrect classification. CES Participants will be promptly notified in such cases and be given an opportunity to respond. The CES Participant may be asked to provide additional information and/or supporting documentation to verify the learning activity.

4.0 Exemption and Extension Requests

Requests Prior to the End of the CES Reporting Period

- 4.1 To be considered for an exemption or extension to any of the CES requirements, CES Participants must apply in writing to the Registrar or delegate before the end of the CES Reporting Period and must include identification of extenuating circumstances. In the event the extenuating circumstance is health related, the application must include a health professional's letter and supporting documentation to support a request that the issue prevented compliance during the CES Reporting Period.
- 4.2 An exemption or extension granted in relation to a CES Participant's obligations is effective for a single CES Reporting Period. Consecutive exemptions are an exception and are only considered upon written request from the CES Participant.

Requests After the End of the CES Reporting Period

- 4.3 A CES Participant who has received notification of non-compliance under Bylaw 5.14 may make a written request for an exemption or extension in relation to the Final CES Deadline no later than 30 days before the Final CES Deadline. Any request must identify credible extenuating circumstances for the inability to comply by the Final CES Deadline, including reasons why a request was not submitted prior to the end of the CES Reporting Period.

Response and Final Decision

- 4.4 The Registrar or delegate may, in their sole discretion, extend the deadline for fine payment or compliance with earning and reporting Learning Units; or vary the CES Requirements, including fine amount and Learning Unit requirements.
- 4.5 The Registrar or delegate must provide a written response to the CES Participant within 14 days of receipt of the request for any, exemption or extension decision. All other AIBC

Bylaws and Rules related and applicable to CES compliance remain in effect, including suspension in the event CES compliance is not achieved.

5.0 Canadian Reciprocity Option

- 5.1 An Architect's 'declared' jurisdiction must be one of the Canadian provinces or territories in which they are registered and are earning and reporting their continuing education hours.
- 5.2 An Architect who is both registered in other Canadian licensing jurisdiction(s) and is compliant with its mandatory continuing education system, is deemed to be compliant with the AIBC's CES requirements in the relevant CES Reporting Period, provided that compliance is reported to the AIBC.
- 5.3 If an Architect is eligible and elects to report compliance with the AIBC's CES requirements by means of reciprocity, they must submit a Declaration of Out-of-Province CES Compliance, through the electronic Registrant portal, before the June 30 end of each CES Reporting Period. Following the end of the CES Reporting Period, the AIBC will verify compliance with the declared jurisdiction. Upon verification, if an Architect is found non-compliant with their declared jurisdiction they will be deemed non-compliant with AIBC CES requirements.
- 5.4 Failure to submit a Declaration of Out-of-Province CES Compliance before the end of each AIBC reporting period deadline of June 30 will result in non-compliance.
- 5.5 Architects who elect to complete CES requirements via the Canadian reciprocity option must also fulfill the AIBC Indigenous Peoples Learning requirement and report completion directly to the AIBC by the end of each CES Reporting Period.
- 5.6 An exemption or extension received in another declared jurisdiction from reporting continuing education requirements is not applicable for reciprocity or CES compliance in British Columbia. The reciprocity option can only be used if continuing education was earned and reported as complete in the declared jurisdiction.

6.0 Record Retention and Documentation Audit

- 6.1 A CES audit of self-reported activities must be conducted within six months of the end of a CES Reporting Period. During each audit, approximately five per cent of CES Participants will receive an audit notice and will have 30 days to provide supporting documentation for review.
- 6.2 All CES Participants must fully and promptly comply with a CES audit.
- 6.3 LUs will be removed from CES Participants' transcripts if supporting documentation is not provided or approved.
- 6.4 If a CES Participant is found non-compliant as a result of the audit process, the Bylaws and Rules related to CES non-compliance apply.

7.0 Consequences for CES Non-Compliance

- 7.1 In accordance with Bylaw 5.14, CES Participants who fail to satisfy the requirements of the CES by the end of a CES Reporting Period, or as a result of a CES audit, are deemed non-compliant with the CES.
- 7.2 In accordance with Bylaw 5.15, non-compliant CES Participants must be provided with written notice of non-compliance and require the CES Participant to pay the fine specified in Schedule B: Fees and complete all outstanding CES Learning Unit requirements on or before by the Final CES Deadline.
- 7.3 Non-compliant CES Participants must pay the fine specified in Schedule B: Fees and must complete all outstanding CES requirements by the Final CES Deadline of September 30 following the end of the applicable CES Reporting Period, or the date indicated in the notice for non-compliance following a CES audit.
- 7.4 CES Participants who did not pay the fine by the deadline or do not meet the requirements by the Final CES Deadline of September 30 following the end of the applicable CES Reporting Period, or the date indicated in the notice for non-compliance following a CES audit, are deemed not in Good Standing and may be suspended in accordance with Bylaw 5.16.

8.0 Reinstatement of CES Participants

- 8.1 Except for CES Participants who have been suspended for CES non-compliance, all applications for reinstatement must be made to the Credentials Committee pursuant to Bylaw 4.25.

Voluntary Resignation and Cancellation for Non-Payment of Annual Fees

- 8.2 CES Participants who resigned voluntarily or whose registration was cancelled for non-payment of Fees may apply for reinstatement by making application to the Credentials Committee and completing any outstanding CES requirements (LUs, payment of any outstanding CES fines, and any LUs that had to have been earned in the reporting period at the time of resignation or cancellation) determined by the time away from the AIBC, such that:
 - 8.2.1 CES Participants who reinstate within one year and in the same reporting period will be placed back into the reporting period they had to comply with at the time of resignation or cancellation. They will have the same CES reporting requirements and deadline;
 - 8.2.2 CES Participants who reinstate within one year and in a new reporting period (i.e., a CES deadline occurred within the year of absenteeism) will be required to complete the outstanding CES requirements of the previous period before applying for reinstatement. Once reinstated, new CES requirements will be determined if the date of reinstatement happens in the first or second year of a reporting period as described in AIBC Bylaws: Schedule P, Paragraphs 3.5 and 3.6 (“CES Participants Registered During a Reporting Period”);

- 8.2.3 CES Participants who apply for reinstatement after one year will not need to complete outstanding CES requirements, except payment of any outstanding CES fines, and will be treated as a newly registered CES Participant. CES requirements will be determined if the date of reinstatement happens in the first or second year of a reporting period as described in AIBC Bylaws, Schedule P, Paragraphs 3.5 and 3.6 (“CES Participants Registered During a Reporting Period”); and
- 8.2.4 CES Participants who apply for reinstatement within one year, were non-compliant for a reporting period, and resigned between July 1 and September 30 (before the Final CES Deadline) will be required to complete the outstanding CES requirements of the previous period before applying for reinstatement and pay any outstanding CES fine. Once reinstated, they will be placed back into the reporting period they had to comply with at the time of resignation.

Suspension due to CES Non-Compliance

- 8.3 CES Participants who were suspended from practice as a result of CES non-compliance may apply for reinstatement by completing any outstanding CES requirements, including LUs and payment of outstanding CES fines, and submitting the applicable Form pursuant to Bylaw 5.21.
- 8.4 After a suspended CES Participant is reinstated by the Registrar, they are to continue with the reporting period they had to comply with at the time of suspension, including LU requirements and associated deadlines.

Cancellation due to CES Non-Compliance

- 8.5 CES Participants whose registration was cancelled for CES non-compliance per Bylaw 5.19 and seek to reinstate within three years of the date of cancellation may apply for reinstatement by making application to the Credentials Committee and completing outstanding CES requirements including payments of any CES fines (see Bylaw 5.21). Once reinstated, new CES requirements will be determined if the date of reinstatement happens in the first or second year of a reporting period as described in AIBC Bylaws, Schedule P, Paragraphs 3.5 and 3.6 (“CES Participants Registered During a Reporting Period”).
- 8.6 CES Participants whose registration was cancelled for CES non-compliance and seek to reinstate after three years from the date of cancellation will not need to complete outstanding CES requirements. The CES Participant will be treated as a newly registered CES Participant and their CES requirements will be determined if the date of reinstatement happens in the first or second year of a reporting period as described in AIBC Bylaws, Schedule P, Paragraphs 3.5

and 3.6 (“CES Participants Registered During a Reporting Period”). Note: Bylaw 4.25 reinstatement requirements for Architects and Architectural Technologists would apply.

Schedule S: Administrative Guidelines for Costs

1.0 Authority and Position

- 1.1 These Administrative Guidelines are authorized under Bylaws 7.42 and 7.43.
- 1.2 Costs in a discipline matter are not ordered as a punitive measure but are agreed to or ordered independently from any sanction imposed.
- 1.3 Costs are not intended to address the conduct that is the subject of the discipline process. Instead, Costs are agreed to as a partial recovery of staff, administrative and other AIBC costs related to the investigation of a matter pursuant to Section 66 of the PGA, negotiation and preparation of an agreement pursuant to Sections 72, 73 or 74 of the PGA, preparation for and conduct of Discipline Hearings pursuant to section 75 of the PGA and Publication processes.
- 1.4 While the PGA provides authority for Costs to be ordered against a Respondent, the Bylaws and these Guidelines contemplate the possibility of a Costs award against the AIBC in the event of the unsuccessful prosecution of a Discipline Hearing.

2.0 Determination of Costs Before a Citation is Issued

- 2.1 AIBC's recoverable Costs include all costs incurred from the time the investigation is authorized pursuant to Section 66(1)(a) of the PGA until the time the matter is resolved by agreement pursuant to Section 72(1), 73(1) or 74 of the PGA.

Reprimand or Remedial Action by Consent (RRAC)

- 2.2 If a RRAC proposal is promptly accepted by the Respondent who agrees to the undertaking(s) and consent(s) in the agreement, the base amount for routine, readily-resolved matters, including those of less than or ordinary complexity, is set at $1,000.00; and
- 2.3 Additional costs may be assessed on a case-by-case basis, for matters that are not readily-resolved, including those of greater complexity, with the factors in subparagraph 2.6.3 in this Schedule duly considered.

Alternative Complaint Resolution (ACR) and Consent Order (CO)

- 2.4 If an ACR proposal or CO proposal is accepted by the Respondent within a reasonable period of time, the base amount is set at $1,500.00, plus the actual costs of to fulfill any specific, cost-bearing terms in the proposed ACR or CO (e.g., course fees and attendance); and
- 2.5 Additional costs may be assessed on a case-by case basis, for matters that are not readily-resolved, including those of greater complexity, with the factors in subparagraph 2.6.3 in this Schedule duly considered.

1.0 Additional Cost Factors

- 2.6 In determining whether a proposal made under paragraphs 2.1 and 2.2 in this Schedule is promptly accepted, or readily-resolved within a reasonable period of time, as well as the level of complexity and increase to the base cost amounts, AIBC will have regard to the following principles:
- 2.6.1 the number of infractions at issue in the negotiation;
 - 2.6.2 the degree of importance of the section(s) in the PGA, the Bylaw(s), or the AIBC Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct that were infringed (i.e., the seriousness of the violation);
 - 2.6.3 the role of the Respondent or the AIBC in conserving or increasing the costs, including admissions of fact and the timing of admissions, inordinate delays and unreasonable negotiating positions;
 - 2.6.4 the Costs imposed in other reasonably similar circumstances; and
 - 2.6.5 any other reasonable considerations relevant, including financial circumstances of the Respondent and total effect of any sanctions imposed.

3.0 Determination of Costs After a Citation is Issued

- 3.1 AIBC's recoverable Costs after a Citation is issued may include all costs incurred from the time the investigation is authorized pursuant to Section 66(1)(a) of the PGA until the time the matter is resolved by agreement pursuant to Sections 72, 73, 74 of the PGA, or conclusion of a Proceeding pursuant to Section 75 of the PGA.
- 3.2 For the purpose of calculating Costs with respect to an investigation, recoverable Costs are those costs incurred from the time the investigation is authorized pursuant to Section 66(1)(a) of the PGA until the time that a Citation is issued pursuant to Sections 66(1)(d) or 72(3) of the PGA.
- 3.3 For the purpose of calculating Costs with respect to a Discipline Hearing, recoverable Costs are costs incurred from the time that the Citation is issued pursuant to Sections 66(1)(d) or 72(3) of the PGA until the matter is resolved by agreement pursuant to Sections 72, 73 or 74 of the PGA, or conclusion of a Proceeding pursuant to Section 75 of the PGA.
- 3.4 In determining Costs the Respondent must pay, the Discipline Hearing Panel considers whether AIBC proved all the charges set out in the Citation to the requisite standard, and if so, the seriousness of the charges which were not proven relative to those which were proven.

4.0 Costs in Favour of the Respondent

- 4.1 A Discipline Hearing Panel may make a Costs award against the AIBC, payable to the Respondent, in the event none of the charges in a Citation are proven.

4.2 In assessing Costs under this Section, a Discipline Hearing Panel may consider the reasonable costs incurred by the Respondent in relation to preparation for and defence at the Discipline Hearing.

Schedule T: Board Rules for Firm Continuing Education

1.0 Background and Authority

- 1.1 These Board Rules, required under Bylaw 5.25, specify the requirements for Firm Continuing Education.
- 1.2 As set out in Bylaw 5.26, these Rules may differ across different Firm Registrant categories.
- 1.3 ‘Firm Registrant’ is a defined term in the AIBC Bylaws and “means a Firm that is registered with the AIBC and includes Architectural Firm, Sole Proprietorship, General Partnership, Limited Partnership, Limited Liability Partnership, Architectural Corporation, Architectural-Engineering Corporation, and Inactive Architectural Firm”.

2.0 AIBC-Specified Course (“Firm Course”) General Rules

- 2.1 Firm Registrants, through Individual Registrants who are owners, partners, or directors described in these Rules, must complete the Firm Course designated by the Registrar.
- 2.2 The AIBC must Publish information about the Firm Course, including the name of the course designated by the Registrar, when and how it is offered, the cost, and whether Learning Units are available for CES Participants under the Continuing Education System. The Firm Course will be available for all AIBC Registrants, whether they are required under these Rules to complete it or not.
- 2.3 While certain Individual Registrants must complete the Firm Course, Firm Registrants are responsible for compliance with these Rules. The Rules include provision for addressing circumstances in which, despite reasonable efforts, a Firm is unable to ensure completion of the Firm Course by Individual Registrants.

3.0 Completion of Firm Course for New (2025-) Certificates of Practice

- 3.1 Effective January 1, 2025, in order to obtain a new Certificate of Practice, applicants must confirm completion of the Firm Course, in accordance with these Rules, as part of their application.
- 3.2 The following Individual Registrants are required to complete the Firm Course prior to Certificate of Practice application, depending upon the Firm Registrant category below:
 - 3.2.1 Sole Proprietors: The Firm Representative (owner).
 - 3.2.2 Partnerships: All partners who are Architects.

- 3.2.3 Architectural Corporations, including Architectural-Engineering Corporations: All Individual Registrants who are directors and/or owners (shareholders of voting shares) as described in the Firm ownership structure in the application Form.
- 3.2.4 Inactive Architectural Firms that are, as Firms, partners or owners of a Firm Registrant issued a Certificate of Practice: All Individual Registrants who are directors, partners and/or owners (sole proprietors or shareholders of voting shares) as described in the Firm ownership structure in the application Form.

4.0 Changes in Firm Ownership, Partnership and Directorship

- 4.1 Any Individual Registrant who joins a Firm Registrant as an owner, partner, or director is required to complete the Firm Course within 90 days of taking an ownership, partnership, or directorship position. For the purposes of determining the 90-day deadline, the starting date of ownership/partnership/directorship will be the date of submission of the Form “Application for Architectural Firm Changes” in which the owner, partner, and/or director change is submitted.
- 4.2 If an Individual Registrant in Paragraph 4.1 leaves a Firm Registrant as, or changes status from, owner, partner, or director prior to completing the Firm Course and prior to expiry of the 90-day deadline, and subsequently returns to that status (one or more of owner, partner or director) at either the same or any other Firm requiring them to complete the course:
- 4.2.1 that person must complete the Firm Course within 60 days of becoming an owner, partner, or director again.
- 4.3 An Individual Registrant required to take the Firm Course under these Rules is only required to take the course once for the purposes of Firm CES compliance. For clarity, Individual Registrants who complete the course for any reason (such as to satisfy Mandatory CES requirements) are deemed to have completed the course for Firm CES purposes. Registrants who have completed the Firm Course and who are owners, partners, or directors of more than one Firm Registrant, whether at the same time or over time, are considered to have completed the course for all applicable Firm Registrants.
- 4.4 The Board may amend these Rules to require owners, partners, and directors to complete an updated or additional course as may be deemed appropriate.

5.0 Consequences for Non-Compliance with Rules

Firm Registrants

- 5.1 First Non-Compliance: A Firm Registrant that is not compliant with a deadline for Firm Course completion by a new owner, partner, or director in these Rules will be fined $250.00 and given 60 days to make payment and come into compliance.

- 5.3 A Firm Registrant that fails to make payment and/or fails to come into compliance by the date required will be deemed not in Good Standing.
- 5.4 As set out in AIBC Bylaw 4.66, the Registrar must cancel the registration of any Registrant, including a Firm Registrant, for failure to pay any Fee due and owing after March 1 of each calendar year.

Individual Registrants: Extension, Waiver and Non-Compliance

- 5.5 While Firm Registrants are responsible for ensuring compliance with these Rules, including determining who is required to take the Firm Course and ensuring course completion, compliance is contingent on completion of the course by designated Individual Registrants who are owners, partners, and/or directors. The following Rules address circumstances that may arise in relation to completion of the Firm Course.

Extension and Waiver Requests

- 5.6 A Firm Registrant that is unable to complete the Firm Course by the deadline required may apply for an extension or waiver by submitting the completed Form required by the Registrar at least 30 days prior to the deadline.
- 5.7 The Registrar or delegate has sole authority to consider the circumstances of an extension or waiver request and will notify the applicant in writing of the decision, from which there is no review or appeal. In the event an extension is granted but not complied with, the Firm Registrant and Individual Registrant are deemed not in compliance for the purposes of these Rules.

Non-Compliance by Individual Registrants

- 5.8 In the event that one or more Individual Registrants required to complete the Firm Course refuses to do so by the designated deadline, a Firm Registrant may request confirmation of completion from the Registrar or delegate if:
 - 5.8.1 the Firm Registrant provides the AIBC with written evidence of one or more requests or instructions to the Individual Registrant(s) from the Firm to complete the Firm Course, and any other evidence of having made reasonable efforts to require compliance; and
 - 5.8.2 the Firm Registrant provides the AIBC with any other relevant information related to the non-compliance upon request.
- 5.9 The Registrar or delegate has sole authority to consider the circumstances related to a request for confirmation of completion, including any information provided by the Individual

Registrant, and will notify the Firm Registrant in writing of the decision, from which there is no review or appeal.

- 5.10 In the event that the Registrar or delegate determines that a Firm Registrant has completed the Firm Course despite non-completion by one or more Individual Registrants, the Registrar or delegate may submit a Complaint to the AIBC in relation to the Individual Registrant's conduct.
